PICKETT'S MEN "CHARGE" AGAIN

Men in Gray Dash Across Bloody Angle at Gettysburg Once More.

MEET "ENEMY" IN BLUE; SHAKE HANDS

Aged Veterans Seem Like Lot of Schoolboys With Vacation Near.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 3.—Although thousands of veterans left the uncertain joys of camp life behind and started for home, their going made little difference in the appearance of the battlefield camp today for thousands of others were on hand to participate inthe exercises of Governors' day. On both sides of Confederate avenue the tents were still alive with veterans and the lines before the cook tents did not seem to the cooks to have lost an inch, although the number that has left is estimated at close to 10,000.

The veterans acted today like a lot of school boys whose vacation is only a few days away. Long before sun up they began parading the camp to the music of "The Streets of Cairo," played in fifes and drums. The paraders were hard workers and the band had powerful lungs and hands for they kept it up until mess call. Many of those who expect to leave tomorrow paid their farewells today to those whom they came to know. There was no doubt in the minds of those who saw, that so far as these men, who have gathered here, are concerned, the war has ceased to be a source of hatred and rancor.

Pickett's Men "Charge" Once More.

One of the events of today was the "charge" of the survivors of Pickett's division on the "Bloody Angle" held by the remnant of the Philadelphia brigade. Under a hot sun the men in gray marched across the field that has not seen anything more fadlike than a black snake in fifty years, up to the walls that form the angle. The "enemy" in blue was waiting with weapons and when they came across the wall they shook hands. Afterwards they looked over the ground for a site for the $250,000 monument they hope to have congress erect there.

Governors' day called for speeches from state executives, Tenor, of Pennsylvania; McCreary, of Kentucky, and Sulzer, of New York. Provision has been made on the platform with the generals and governors for Vice President Marshall and the big congressional delegation from Washington.

Ex-Confederates Adopt Resolutions

ICE COMPANIES GO INTO COURT

Seek to Regain the Plants Seized by the City at Cincinnati.

SEVEN IN OPERATION

Cincinnati, July 3. Seven non-union ice plants seized by order of Mayor Henry T. Hunt were being operated today by the board of health in an effort to relieve the suffering caused by the strike of engineers, firemen, drivers and helpers.

The ice-making machinery of the different plants were in charge of striking engineers and firemen who were ordered to return to work by union officials under an agreement made with the mayor.

While the ice manufacturers denounce the action of the city, the first step to regain possession of their plants was taken by the Cincinnati Ice company, which applied to Judge Spiegel in the common pleas court for an injunction to restrain the city "from trespassing further on the property of the company." The petition asked that a temporary injunction be granted and that it be made permanent. Mayor Hunt has sent a message to Attorney General McReynolds urging him to order an investigation of the Middle States Ice Producers' Exchange, claiming that it is a combination in restraint of trade.

M'REYNOLDS IN REPLY.

Washington, July 3.—Attorney General McReynolds upon receipt of Mayor Hunt's telegram requesting the federal government to investigate the "ice trust" telegraphed the mayor to discuss the situation with United States Attorney McPherson at Cincinnati, who would consider whether the Sherman anti-trust law was being violated.

DIGNIFED HAZE CAN NOT FOOL 'EM

Doctors to Examine Those Genteelly Jingled in Washington.

AS COURT EXPERTS

Washington, July 3.—Hereafter under the new excise law put in force in the District of Columbia any person suspected of having "drunk not wisely, but too well" will be taken to a hospital for examination by a physician. Orders to this effect were issued today by Superintendent of Police Sylvester. The examining physician in each case will be called upon later to act as an expert witness in police court whenever the convivial prisoner protests his innocence.

Plain "drunks," unornamented "souses" and palpable "jags" will not be subjected to the medical examination but will be taken in hand by the arresting policeman and rushed to the station house without any stops en route. It is the intention to have the physicians look over only the gentlemen who are tottering along in a dignified haze and who protest that they are not intoxicated.

STRAUS OPPOSES FAIRBANKS PLAN

New York Progressive for Straight Program and No Compromise.

TAKES RAP AT WILSON

Newport R. I., July 3.—No compromise with the older parties but a straight progressive program predicated upon social justice favoring neither capital nor labor, was the keynote of an address made at the progressive conference today by Oscar S. Straus. Mr. Straus, who was the candidate for governor of New York on the progressive ticket last fall, said that a great injustice had been done and a damaging precedent established when President Wilson signed the sundry civil bill making it impossible for any part of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust act to be used in the prosecution of farmers' associations or labor unions.

"Mr. Fairbanks, former vice president, recently voiced the sentiment of a number of well intentioned republicans when he called upon the republicans and progressives to forget past differences and return to the fold," said Mr. Straus. "Those who believe or hope that the reactionary republicans and progressives can ever be merged misunderstand the true meaning and significance of progressivism. The progressive plan and purposes is predicated upon social justice and is dedicated to redress such evils that can be corrected by legislation and it will not compromise its mission nor will it suffer the fetishes to which both of the old parties are chained to interfere with its mission.

"Any law which lessens the power of the government in favor of capital as against labor, or in favor of labor as against capital, is unjust to both and when discrimination is made in favor of the one it will not be long before this will be used as a precedent for discrimination against the other."

ARGUMENT ENDS FATALLY.

Chicago Man Killed as Outcome of Educational Discussion.

Chicago, July 3.—A dispute over the value of a college education resulted today in the death of Henry A. Edman, 54 years old, a street car conductor. He was knocked down by Edward Shaw, 28 years old, suffered a fractured skull, and later died. Shaw was arrested.

Edman declared a college education was useless while Shaw defended higher education.

MARTIN SAYS LAMAR DID IT

Confirms Broker's Claim to Drawing Steel Probe Resolution.

DIDN'T KNOW HE DICKERED WITH IT

"Anti-Trust League" Head Secretive Regarding Organization.

Washington, July 3.—Confirmation of David Lamar's claim that it was he who drew the congressional resolution under which the Stanley committee investigated the U. S. steel corporation was given to the senate lobby committee today by Henry B. Martin, head of a so-called "anti-trust league." Martin's testimony was less gripping and less startling than Lamar's yesterday, when the latter blandly told of confidential relations with Wall street leaders and his impersonations of congressmen was corroboratory and supplementary to Lamar's on several points.

He testified that after Lamar drew the steel trust investigation resolution, he, Martin, induced Representative Stanley to introduce it. He did not tell Stanley that Lamar was its author, but didn't try to suppress the fact. He disclaimed knowing that Lamar had used the resolution before introduction in dealings with financiers and protested he knew nothing of Lamar's telephone impersonations.

Secretive Regarding "League."

Persistent questioning by the senators failed to make Martin divulge what the "Anti-Trust League" was or who composed it. He declined to give names of members or tell of the disposition of thousands of dollars he said it had spent.

The committee wanted to know what Martin knew about lobbies in Washington. He declared that when Chairman Lovett, of the Union Pacific board; Paul D. Cravath, counsel, had been to the department of justice to discuss the Union Pacific dissolution with Attorney General McReynolds they had "lobbied" the department.

J. P. Morgan, jr., and Herbert Satterlee, of Morgan & Co., he named as interested in the Navy league, which he

HYMEN LIGHTS UP IN CLERK'S OFFICE

Two Couples Made Happy by Justice Grabner's Divorce-Proof Knots.

YOUTH AND AGE JOIN

Hymen side stepped church altar and cathedral chancel, drawing room and cosy front parlor and lighted his little torch and fitted up his happy bower in the little apartment petitioned off in the office of County Clerk Gerding this afternoon. He also pressed Justice Henry Grabner into service to solemnize the joyous rites that by rule of law and custom of church must precede connubial bliss.

First came William M. Sharpe, a watchman, and Catherine E. Hecht, both of the city, who were soon bound together as tight as law, one of License Clerk Bob Travis' best licenses and Justice Grabner's ceremony could make them. They left the building as happy and radiant as though they were twenty-one instead of fifty-eight years the marriage records show them to be.

Scarcely had this event taken place than Hymen blew his torch afresh into flame and Bert J. Grim and Edith E. Bice, both of Allen county, engaged Deputy Travis in a confidential word and informed him they had now a witness to the bride-elect's eligibility to marry, a formality that they neglected when they appeared earlier in the day. Justice Grabner was called once more and he did his very best for the young couple. The groom is 23 years old and a farmer, and the bride is pretty and only twenty.

"OLD JON" IS RETIRED.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 3.—"Old Jon," the favorite cavalry horse at Fort Leavenworth, after serving twenty-five years, has been retired to the fort's reservation at the regret of all officers. The animal has served in the Fourth, Sixth, Ninth and Fourteenth cavalry. Captain W. T. Johnston, of the Fifteenth cavalry, issued orders today prohibiting any one from riding, driving or in any way molesting "Old Jon" in his well earned retirement from active service.

FORT WAYNE TO OBSERVE FOURTH

Races, Baseball Games and Many Picnics, With Fireworks at Night.

NO GENERAL PROGRAM

PLACES TO CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Races at Driving Park by Fort Wayne Amateur Driving Association.

Baseball at League Park Shamrocks vs. Hicksville Browns.

Moose Picnic at Swinney Park.

Fireworks at Country Club.

Fireworks and Balloon Ascension and Hicksville Boys' Band at Robison Park.

Many church and lodge picnics at Foster, Robison, Germania and Swinney parks.

While Fort Wayne is not going to hold a general celebration of Independence day as it did last year at Foster park, a sufficient number of events of interest have been planned for the day to entertain all of Fort Wayne and the hundreds of visitors expected in the city, and it is very likely that Fort Wayne will have a noisy Fourth, as fireworks dealers declare that the demand for explosives and illuminating designs was never greater in the history of the city.

While the official observance of the holiday does not begin until morning, it is safe to say, judging from the advance sale of fireworks, that the young Americans of the city will turn loose their conveyors of noise tonight, and will attempt to disturb the otherwise peaceful slumbers of those who believe in an Independence day celebration along the

WEARY OF BEING MERE MILLIONAIRE

Wouldn't Trade His $1,500 Job for Biggest Fortune on Earth.

DECLARES M. O'BRIEN

Van Buren, Ark., July 3.—Utter weariness of being merely a millionaire is the reason John O'Brien, of New York, who has been missing for three years today advanced in explanation of his long absence from the ken of old friends. Mr. O'Brien is a former football star of Columbia university. He mysteriously vanished at the close of his college year in 1910. He was found yesterday in this town, where he is working as an assistant engineer for the Missouri Pacific railroad.

"Why should I worry about being heir to $1,200,000," said Mr. O'Brien today. "I have a job. When I convince myself that I have made good in the world I will return home. I became plumb tired of being a rich man with nothing to do except play the society game and study new ways to kill time. Just now I wouldn't trade my $1,500 a year position for the biggest fortune in the world."

Mr. O'Brien added that his mother has known of his whereabouts, though a nation wide search has been made for him.

DIES TRYING TO SAVE BEER

Unknown Man Meets Death in Fall from a Train on Nickel Plate.

BOTTLES SLIPPED; GRASPED FOR THEM

Loses Hold and is Killed While His Companion Takes Flight.

An unidentified man, well dressed and about thirty years of age, was instantly killed at 9:55 o'clock this morning when he fell from eastbound Nickel Plate freight train No. 56, at the foot of Ewing street. A companion riding on the same car, jumped from the train at Webster street and ran away before witnesses could obtain the name of the victim. He has not been seen since and the authorities are attempting to locate him.

The victim of the tragedy had three bottles of beer in his arm when he jumped upon the side rail of a car on the fastly moving train. The beer fell, and in attempting to catch it, the man lost his grasp on the iron handles and fell to the ground. The train did not pass over his body, but he was struck on the head, suffering a fracture of the skull and his right arm was cut off. Death was instantaneous.

Coroner E. H. Kruse was called and ordered the remains taken to the Schenmann undertaking parlors, on Lewis street. A purse containing ten dollars in paper money and fifty cents in silver was found on his person, together with a few loose pages from a time-keeping book.

There were no papers about the man's clothing that gave the coroner even the slightest clew as to his identity. In the man's coat was a label bearing the name of D. H. Kreszo, 112 South Thirteenth street, Philadelphia, maker of the garment, and on the same label a spears the name, "R. Macdonola." The police believe that the latter name may be that of the accident victim, but no address is given.

The man was well dressed and cleanly. He wore a blue shirt and a striped suit and a ring on his right hand. He

BE CAREFUL IN USE OF EXPLOSIVES ON FOURTH.

In view of the extremely dry weather, officials of the Fort Wayne fire department take occasion to warn the public against the careless use of explosives tomorrow. Chief Hilbecht and Assistant Chief Jasper are greatly worried over the outlook, as everything is as dry as powder, and the chances are ripe for a great number of fires, unless people guard their property closely. The most dangerous mischief makers of Independence day are paper balloons and the sky rockets, which are liable to fall upon the roof of buildings. Unless Fort Wayne is visited by generous rain before tomorrow, the fire department will expect to have a busy day.

Four years ago tomorrow, under climatic conditions almost identical with the present, the department made eight runs and at one time was compelled to answer three calls coming to the station simultaneously. The property owners are advised to guard their belongings.

SEEK HEALTH AND HAPPINESS IN OVERLAND TRIP IN WAGON TO FLORIDA.

Traveling at the slow rate of not twenty miles each day, William J. Lemmer and wife, son, collie dog and canary bird, arrived in Fort Wayne this morning aboard their large road wagon. They remained only a half-hour, taking

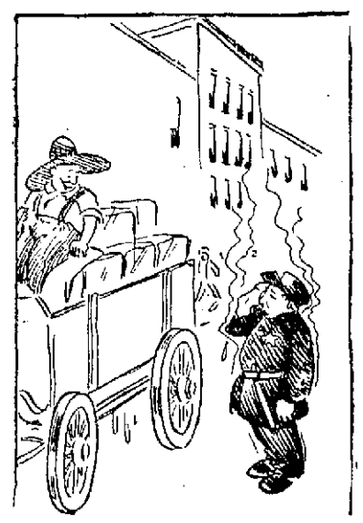
It Wasn't Self-Restraint

IT WAS one of the hottest of the days we have had this week, and the thing happened at the hottest time of this hot day—exactly at noon, when everybody who could do so dragged his weary sweat-bedraggled form to the vicinity of an electric fan and dropped lifelessly into a receptive attitude.

Officer Shaughnessy, traffic policeman at the junction of Wayne and Calhoun, had just been relieved by Officer John Terry, and Mr. Terry stood there on the scorching pavement while the sun beat down upon him in all its torridness. Every other man in sight had his coat off and his sleeves rolled up, but the policeman was obliged to stand in the sun and keep all his thick clothing well buttoned about his figure. If the foregoing description was warm—exceedingly warm—then the foundation of the story is poorly laid; but if the reader gathers the thought that Officer Terry was as hot as blazes, then we can go on with the tale.

Here's going on:

Along came a team hauling a wagon loaded with exposed ice. From it came a cooling zephyr which attracted the approval of the superheated epidermis of the officer. Seated high on the stack of ice was a half-clad driver, enjoying the cool air which rose from the ice. He looked contented and joyful. He glanced down at the officer, as the officer looked up at him with a woe-begone expression. The driver took a good well-centered look into the officer's face and as he drove on, said with a roguish confidential voice—"Any ice?" He grinned still more widely as the load passed down the street.



"Any Ice?"

"It seems to me, Mr. Terry," remarked Attorney A. E. Thomas, who had witnessed the incident, "that you display a great amount of self-restraint. Why didn't you thrash him?"

"It wasn't self-restraint," responded Mr. Terry. "It's too doggoned hot to fight."

ROBS EMPLOYERS TO BUY WHISKY

Fred Miller Made Score of Trips to Junker With Stolen Copper.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Fred W. Miller, 317 Melita street, today made the plea in police court that he robbed his employers to get money to buy whisky. He was arrested Wednesday by Detective Sergeant William F. Pappert on complaint of John H. Welch & Sons, hardware merchants and tin and coppersmiths, 1915-17 Calhoun street, just after he had stolen and marketed with a junk dealer eighteen pounds of new sheet copper which he had cut into scraps. Welch & Sons had suspected for some time that Miller, a tinner in their employ, was robbing them and they called in the police.

Wednesday noon Miller left the shop with a nail keg in which he had placed eighteen pounds of copper. This was sold for 60 cents to a Lafayette street junker, who immediately disposed of it to the Strasburg junk store, where the property was found. Miller confessed to Charles E. Welch and Detective Pappert that he had been committing theft for a long time and had made perhaps twenty-five trips to the Lafayette street dealer with copper. His method was to cut new sheet copper into scraps for convenience of carrying it away secretly. The copper he sold for 60 cents was worth $3.60 in sheets and three times what he got for it as junk.

Judge Mungovan fined Miller $10 and costs and added ninety days in jail. Eighty days of the jail sentence were suspended. Miller had a full quart bottle of whisky on his person when arrested. He has a wife and two children.

Pawned Employer's Tools.

Mike Sexton, a lineman employed by the Western Union Telegraph company, was fined $10 and costs and given ten days for petit larceny. Sexton, who came here about three weeks ago, got drunk and pawned his lineman's tools at Dygert's pawnshop for $2. They were the property of the company and valued at $10.

Was Giving a Show.

While police court was in session Chief Abbott brought in Albina Kohlman, who was drunk and edifying the neighbors with a maudlin stunt she was giving from the porch at 315 Montgomery street. Albina was radiant in a white dress, having evidently got up her holiday attire twenty-four hours ahead. She was given $5 and costs and sent over to get sober. She is an almost incorrigible alcoholic.

Other Police Court Cases.

Frank Techan and John Plutky, boys arrested by Nickel Plate Railway Special Officer Ray and charged with burglary, were allowed to go. They broke into a boarding car on the railroad and committed robbery. The offense was not committed in this county and could not be prosecuted here.

The case of George Auer, cigar manufacturer at 908 Hugh street, arrested on complaint of his wife in surety of the peace proceedings, had his case continued until July 10 and bond was fixed at $500, which was furnished.

Charles Miller, drunk, was sent over for ten days; John Donahue, drunk, was let go; Tom McGuire, an indescribably filthy and much battered drunk, got $1 and costs and went over; Sam Martin, loiterer, got the same, and Ed Ward, arrested last week while prowling about the west end, was turned loose.

BOARDER IN WRONG BED.

An excited report was made to the police early today that a burglar was under a bed in the house at 1513 Walton avenue. When Officer Buuck got there with the police wagon it was found that a boarder had got into the wrong bed and rectified the error by getting under it. The discovery of his improvised lodging place caused all the excitement.

POLICE NOTES.

John Koelinger, 612 Rivermet avenue, found a young man prowling about his premises at 11:30 o'clock last night and questioned him. The prowler told a plausible story of having stopped to admire Mr. Koelinger's flowers, said he worked for the city and resided at Calhoun and Third streets. He was allowed to go. Neighbors who had seen the fellow came over to make inquiry and it was decided to pursue him. When the man saw the party coming he took to his heels.

Members of the police force received their pay today that they might have money for the Fourth.

TRAFFIC RULES MUST BE OBEYED

City Judge Mungovan Warns That Severe Penalties Are Now Due.

LENIENCY NEAR END

"I want to warn you and all other drivers of vehicles in this city that these traffic rules were made to be enforced for the safety of the public. I have been lenient in almost all cases of violation because I wanted everybody to have an opportunity to become familiar with the provisions of the ordinance. There has been time enough and no excuse can be found by anyone for violating the rules and endangering life and limb of people on streets. The time is at hand when I shall begin to assess severe penalties for violations of the traffic rules and I want that understood by all drivers, whether of vehicles drawn by horses or propelled by power. The law must be observed."

This statement was made with a good deal of emphasis by City Judge Mungovan this morning at the conclusion of a hearing given Earl Young, delivery driver for Coverdale & Archer, grocers, who had been ordered by Officer Paul to present himself in court today for driving rapidly past a street car that was receiving and discharging passengers. Young was not penalized, but Judge Mungovan improved the occasion to declare that the end of leniency was fast approaching and that before long violators of the traffic ordinances would be punished.

So far only flagrant cases have been punished and these for the most part have been drivers of automobiles and motorcycles.

PICKETT'S MEN "CHARGE" AGAIN

which fought in this illustrious field fifty years ago, to meet in friendship here today and plant a monument of peace, a monument which shall stand as the symbol of American valor, manhood and brotherhood.

"Resolved, That we thank the government of the United States for the magnificent and munificent manner in which it has seconded the efforts of the state of Pennsylvania in carrying forward this great work of peace and fraternity between the blue and the gray and without any self abasement whatsoever we desire to reaffirm and pledge, not only ourselves, but all our brother ex confederates and all the people of our loved southland to the utmost loyalty to the government of the United States and to the flag of our country.

"Resolved, That we take pride in the fact that to the armies of the confederacy is due the credit of demonstrating the utter impossibility of the dismemberment of the Union.

"When we consider that 600,000 men of the very flower of chivalry, as good material as was ever organized in a fighting force, and directed by such commanders as our beloved Robert E. Lee and his lieutenants, inspired by a sectional devotion such as has not elsewhere been known in history, failed to separate the states, we see that the demonstration was complete, that the thing was not to be done, and our failure must give pause to those who in the future would contemplate such an undertaking."

Wending Way Homeward.

Veterans are now due to wend their way homeward in large numbers. The railroad people estimated that up to midnight last night 25 per cent of those who came to the great camp had departed for their homes. Today's special trains of twelve cars each were sent out at intervals, all filled with the old men who had satisfied their desire to once again visit the scene of the battle and were ready to go their homes.

Hundreds of other veterans are still arriving, however, for the Independence day exercises tomorrow when President Wilson will be here and will speak.

All of the victims of W. B. Henry, of Philadelphia, who ran amuck in the dining room of a Gettysburg hotel last night, are reported today to be doing well. Charles Ensor, who received the most dangerous wounds, is not out of danger, but the doctors say there is little likelihood of his death, unless complications arise.

Prepare for President.

Arrangements were perfected today for the reception of President Wilson tomorrow. He will arrive in Gettysburg at 11 a. m., according to the plan arranged, and will be met by Governor Tener. The entire force of the state police will be on duty at the station.

In order that the veterans may have the opportunity of seeing the president he will be driven through the streets of Gettysburg and out the Emmitsburg road to the big tent, a distance of two miles.

The president will begin his address immediately after arriving at the tent. Meanwhile his car will be run over the battlefield tracks to a point near the big tent. Here the president at about 12 o'clock will board the train and will start at once on a special schedule for Philadelphia, where his car will be attached to a train that will take him to his summer home in New Hampshire.

The number of veterans who have died at the reunion was increased to eight today when George Walls, of Lewisburg, Pa., 69 years old, succumbed in the field hospital. Death was due to uremia.

FORT WAYNE TO OBSERVE FOURTH

safe and sane plan. Hundreds of dollars' worth of fireworks will go up in smoke and flame tomorrow. In the evening a number of special displays have been arranged, besides the many private gatherings where the Fourth will be celebrated in old-fashioned style. The people of Bloomingdale have made arrangements for a display at No. 6 engine house, and among the other special observances will be one at the Country club.

Church Picnics.

Thousands of Fort Wayne people will spend the day attending numerous church picnics, others will flock to the parks to enjoy the shade and open air, some will attend the baseball game at League park, and others plan to go to the races to be held in the afternoon at the Driving park under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Driving association.

Among the church picnics is one to be given at the corner of Fourth and Andrews streets by the congregation of the Precious Blood church. This will be attended also by the inmates of St. Vincent's orphans' home. The picnic is to last all day, and a special program of athletic field events and games has been prepared. Ten per cent of the proceeds is to go to the worthy poor of the congregation, and the balance will be divided among the church, school and church societies.

Various Lutheran congregations of the city also plan to hold their annual picnics tomorrow. St. Paul's, Concordia and Emanuel's Lutheran churches will hold a children's picnic at Concordia college grove. The program includes a baseball game and music by the Citizens' band. The congregation of the Emmaus Lutheran church will picnic at Foster park, and the Trinity Lutheran church will picnic and hold its school festival on the church grounds on Huffman street.

The Moose lodge will hold its annual picnic at Swinney park. An elaborate program has been arranged for the all-day event, and it is expected that more than a thousand local and visiting Moose will attend.

Baseball a Big Card.

The crack of the bat coming in contact with a small sphere covered with leather will attract hundreds to League park and to vacant lots about the city, either to participate in the national pastime or sit idly by and watch others enjoy the exercise. The Shamrocks play the Hicksville Browns at League park in the afternoon, and boys and ladies will be admitted free. A large number of amateur teams have scheduled games for tomorrow, and it is safe to say that practically every diamond in the city will be the scene of a conflict sometime during the day.

Officials in charge of the races at the Driving park have arranged for an excellent card and a great crowd is expected. Arrangements have been made for a band concert during the day, and an early start in all events is promised.

At Robison Park.

Manager Williams, of Robison park, has secured the celebrated Boys' band from Hicksville, O., as one of the attractions for tomorrow. The band consists of forty members and each one is a musician of ability. Mr. Williams is also completing arrangements for a balloon ascension to be made by William Crowl late in the afternoon.

said was interested in the armor plate lobby. "The result of their continued lobbying has resulted in the United States paying hundreds of millions for obsolete ships and useless armor," said Martin. The committee recessed until 4:30 p. m. when Martin had finished.

Lauterbach Not There.

Edward Lauterbach, the New York lawyer, who figured in David Lamar's impersonations of congressmen in telephone talks with New York financiers, was not on hand today as the senate lobby committee had expected when it resumed taking testimony. Henry B. Martin, head of a so-called "anti-trust" league here, was called to be examined, however, on Lamar's statement that after he had drawn a resolution for a congressional investigation of the U. S. steel corporation, he gave the resolution to Martin, who in turn induced Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, to introduce it in the house.

Before Martin was called, Lewis Cass Ledyard, attorney for J. P. Morgan & Co., who had testified yesterday as to Lamar drawing the steel trust resolution, resumed the stand for a moment to testify that his information on that point came from Lamar and Lauterbach.

Senators gave Martin a lively examination in an effort to disclose what the "Anti-trust league" was and who composed it. Martin testified that M. L. Lockwood, of Oklahoma, was originally its president, he was secretary, Cotter T. Bride, of this city, was treasurer, and Herman Schulteis, also of Washington, was counsel. At one time the "league" depended on Attorney General Monett, of Ohio, for legal advice, he said.

Declined to Give Names.

Martin declined to give names of the league's members because they would suffer "the anger of the great trusts who would ruin, blacklist them and secure their discharge from employment."

He also declined to disclose the expenditure of about $50,000 by the league on the same grounds.

Martin gave the executive committee of the "league" as himself, Lockwood, Schulteis, Monett, Bride and W. B. Fleming, of Kentucky; C. J. Van Voris, of Indiana; Wm. Trent, of Illinois; W. G. Lafollette, of Wisconsin; P. E. Dow, of New York, and W. H. Greene, of Nebraska. He claimed he had presented to the secretary of the navy evidences of frauds in armor plate contracts and that he had given information to other government officials regarding violations of law by the "railroad trust, coal trust, steel trust, harvester trust, and elevator trust," at a cost of more than $100,000. He claimed to have drawn many bills for introduction in congress had helped prepare for an investigation of the "armor trust" and was "very active" in the preparation of resolution for the money trust and steel trust investigations.

Further questioning brought out that Lamar in 1909, when the Wickersham railroad law amendments were before congress, had supplied arguments and information that Martin presented to members. Martin thought such information had led to the striking out of the sections to immunize railroads from prosecutions.

"Did Lamar prepare the draft of the resolution for the investigation of the steel trust?" demanded Senator Cummins.

"It is my recollection that I asked him to prepare it," said Martin. He added that he had no specific arrangement with any member of congress for its introduction.

"This resolution was used in New York as a basis for an attempted reconciliation between Edward Lauterbach and the Morgan firm," said Senator Cummins.

Martin insisted he knew nothing of that.

Under questioning, Martin testified that the resolution was introduced in the house in practically the form he and Lamar agreed upon.

"Did you tell Representative Stanley, who finally introduced the resolution, that Lamar had prepared it?"

"I don't think so."

"Did you try to suppress that fact?"

"Not in the least."

Helbig, Mrs. Paul Richter, Mrs. Max Irmscher, Mrs. Fred Wiebke and Gust Heger, of this city; George W. Heger, of Chicago, and Ernest Heger, of Cleveland. He also leaves thirty-one grandchildren.

HERS FOURTEENTH DEATH IN FAMILY

Lillian Schindler Thirteenth Child to Die in But a Few Years.

THE OTHER DEATHS

When Lillian Schindler, aged sixteen years, passed away this morning at St. Rochus' hospital, the grim reaper death visited the home of Peter M. Schindler, 1207 Rivermet avenue for the fourteenth time in less than eight years. The young lady was the thirteenth of a family of fourteen children that died within that time, and the mother also passed away a few years ago.

The father and one daughter, Mrs. Aldine Thompson, are all that are left of a family of sixteen members.

Miss Schindler died at 1 o'clock this morning after a prolonged illness from tuberculosis. She was widely known and was a member of the congregation and Sunday school of the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church. She was born June 3, 1897, at Berne, Ind., but had lived in Fort Wayne nearly all her life, and until becoming ill, was employed as a clerk at the Knox five and ten cent store, on Calhoun street. The father is employed at the Hoffman Bros. Lumber company.

Friends who desire to view the remains may do so this evening at the Schone & Ankenbruck undertaking parlors. The body will be shipped to Berne Friday morning, and funeral services and interment will occur there.

BETZ.

Samuel J. Betz, aged forty-five years, died Wednesday afternoon at his home on the Illinois road, three miles west of Fort Wayne, after an illness of one year from a complication of diseases. For many years he had been engaged in the carpet cleaning business.

Surviving besides the widow he leaves nine children: Lester, Walter, Nerena, Helen, Fred, Carl, Clara and Edith Betz and Mrs. N. C. Beyers. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters, Fred and George Betz, Mrs. Fred Bohne and Mrs. Theodore Geller. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

HIS BACK BROKEN; DEMANDS $25,000

George Middleton Sues Hilker Brothers for Injuries at Their Mill.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Perhaps the largest claim ever filed in the local courts for personal injuries that did not cause death has just been placed on the entry docket of the superior court by Harry H. Hilgemann, attorney for George Middleton, who demands $25,000 of Charles E. and Frank C. Hilker, doing a planing mill business under the firm name of Hilker Brothers in this city.

The complaint sets out that Middleton was a driver in the employ of the Berghoff brewery and was sent to the Hilker mill to get a load of shavings. The driveway into the mill to the place where the shavings were kept is alleged to have had such faults of construction as made possible and directly contributed to an accident in which Middleton's back was broken, from which paralysis of both legs ensued. It is complained that he will always be a helpless cripple unable to do anything for his own support.

Sensational Damage Suit.

Mrs. Helen Whitehause, who, with her husband, resides on the Theodore F. Thieme country place near the Fort Wayne Country club, has just filed in the superior court a sensational damage suit against Robert S. Osler, a well-known employe of the Wayne Knitting Mills. She alleges that on the 13th of May Osler invited her to get into his automobile and go with him to pick wild flowers and that after starting Osler made humiliating proposals, which she scorned and resented. The complaint then goes on to recite that Osler drove his car into a side road much concealed by trees and there renewed his proposals and "rudely and in angry manner" took hold of her, threatened to throw her out of the automobile and make her walk home if she did not submit. She says she has suffered and still suffers great distress of mind and body and has had nervous prostration as a result of her experience. She charges assault and battery and wants $2,500 damages.

Few Blanks; No Prosecutions.

There are practically no automobile registration blanks in the city. The offices of the county clerk and county auditor have issued the few they had and unless Fort Wayne notaries have some there are none in the city. Prosecutor Harry H. Hilgemann has announced that he will make no effort to prosecute any automobile owner who can show that he has made an effort to register his car in accordance with the law and has failed to get it done because of the famine in blanks. It is believed there is a corner on the blanks.

Notes of the Courts.

Ross B. Bair has sued in the superior court for a divorce from Mamie Bair. After a wedded existence of fifteen months he says his wife left him under pretense of going home to nurse her sick mother and has never returned save once in his absence, when she took her clothes from the house. She had told him, he says, that she was tired of him, never loved him and wished they had never met.

The divorce suit of Isaac E. vs. Mary E. Fritz has been dismissed from the superior court.

Judge Yaple, in the superior court, has dismissed the divorce suit of Johanna Sipple vs. John Sipple and dissolved a restraining order against the Lake Erie railroad as to withholding the defendant's wages.

William Ehle has commenced an action in the superior court against Heinrich Hemsoth, et al., to recover $300 on a note. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Sarah Ehle has commenced action in the superior court against Heinrich Hemsoth to recover $500 on a note. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Herman C. Nieter has commenced an action in the superior court to recover $150 on a note from J. E. K. France. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The county commissioners this afternoon granted petitions for the Webster and Gilbert stone roads in Monroe township.

Surprised Deputy Recorder.

Herman Westenfeld, deputy county recorder, was thoroughly, but most pleasantly surprised at the office closing hour yesterday afternoon when a merry party of his friends took possession of the office to commemorate his birthday anniversary. Those who composed the happy party were Recorder Hursh and Deputy Mary Kelly, who arranged the event, and Minnie S. Fahlsing, Marie Federspeil, Elnora Oddou, Anna Jordan, LaVonne Williams, Elfreda Stenger, Lon Williams, Anna Dondero, Stella Bueter, Cleopha Bueter, Sophia Heine, Charlotte Steinhauser, Lottie Hood, Thekla Schmidt, Frances Schlatter, Louise D. Gloeckle and Harry Crouse.

GRIFFIN NAMES CLUB COMMITTEE

To Co-operate in Securing Pools for Public Bathing in Fort Wayne.

TO GET BUSY AT ONCE

For the purpose of co-operating with the park board and other civic bodies interested in the establishment of the proposed public bathing pools in Fort Wayne, President William M. Griffin, of the Commercial club, today appointed a committee of five, whose duty it will be to obtain all possible statistics regarding plans, location and probable cost of the pools. Members of the committee representing the club are W. M. Wardrop, Robert B. Hanna, Professor Louis Dorn, Engineer Marriott Price and Edward F. Yarnelle.

"This committee will take up the question of public bathing pools, in all its phases," said Mr. Griffin this afternoon. "It will spend a few days in looking about the city for suitable locations for the proposed swimming pools, and then will prepare a set of plans for the construction of them. Later the committee will prepare an estimate of the total cost, and a complete report will be submitted at the earliest possible date.

APPEAL FOR AGED CONVICT.

Retiring Warden Would Free "Daddy" Truax, 82 Years Old.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 3.—Before turning over the state penitentiary to J. D. Botkin, his successor, Warden W. W. Codding made a last appeal to Governor Hodges today, recommending that David Truax, the oldest prisoner at the institution, be pardoned. Truax is 82 years old and is called "Daddy" by the other prisoners.

Truax shot and killed John Lee, a comrade, and wounded William Lutz, members of the soldiers' home at Dodge City, in 1905, for having taken a bottle of liquor out of his pocket. He was convicted and sentenced to serve twelve years. He has now served eight years. Truax receives a pension of $20 a month which he sends to his crippled wife.

TWO MOTOR ACCIDENTS.

An automobile belonging to Henry Israel, 1027 Broadway, collided with a Lakeside and Pontiac line car at the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson street, last night, and was slightly damaged, but none of the occupants were hurt.

Martin Geoglein, living on the Maysville road, was run into by an automobile while driving a light vehicle at the corner of Washington boulevard and Harrison street last evening. The car was driven by M. J. Sprang. The Geoglein rig was slightly wrecked and a quantity of cement blocks, with which it was loaded, was scattered over the street.

"WHITE WINGS" ON STRIKE.

Chicago Street Sweepers Demand Raise to $2.50 Per Day.

Chicago, July 3.—The city administration became a strike victim today when 200 "white wings" walked out after demanding an increase from $2 to $2.50 a day. Fifty emergency sweepers were put to work under police guard.

BOY BATHERS ARE GOOD FOR POOLS

They Have Got Reservoir Park Lake Pretty Well Cleaned.

COMPLAINTS ARE FEW

That the youngsters who bathe and swim in Reservoir park lake have been a good thing for that body of water is the judgment of Charles E. Steiss, secretary of the park board, and Mr. Garver, valve attendant at the reservoir and watchman of the park. The store of tin cans in the lake are thrown in there by youthful anglers and not by nearby householders trying to take advantage of a convenient city "dump." This stock of discarded tinware is bait cans thrown into the water by the youngsters when ready to go home. This is a nuisance, however, that in a great measure corrects itself. After the fishing season closes the bathing season comes on and the same juveniles who litter the bottom of the lake with tin cans find them annoying and dangerous when they go in to swim. So they throw the cans on the bank and the park attendants gather them up and store them almost out of sight by the tool house. There is a big collection of cans there now, which Park Superintendent Goers will have removed within a few days.

Messrs. Steiss and Garver say that inquiry in the neighborhood of the park discloses that a majority of the people resident thereabouts have no complaint to make of the boys bathing in the park lake, but on the contrary favor it. Nevertheless, Secretary Steiss says that the park board would like to have written word from any residents in that immediate vicinity who have objection to boys swimming there. A manifestation of sentiment is desired.

The inspection of Reservoir park Wednesday afternoon by Prof. Louis Dorn, of the park board, and Secretary Steiss revealed that conditions are not ideal in the matter of cleanliness from rubbish, but not nearly as bad as represented.

FIVE CHILDREN PERISH.

Little Ones Burn to Death in Home Near Valencia, Pa.

Valencia, Pa., July 3.—Five children of W. A. Hayes, a dairyman, residing near here, were burned to death this morning. The children, Ethel, Howard, Mary, Robert and Willard Hayes were asleep in their home while the father and mother had gone to a distant pasture field to milk. The house caught fire from an overheated stove and before help could reach the little ones, who ranged in age from nine months to eleven years, they were dead.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Luke 7: 36-50.

36 And one of the Pharisees desired him that he would eat with him. And he went into the Pharisee's house, and sat down to meat.

37 And, behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster box of ointment,

38 And stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment

39 Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself, saying. This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him; for she is a sinner.

40 And Jesus answering said unto him, Simon, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And he saith, Master, say on.

41 There was a certain creditor which had two debtors; the one owned five hundred pence, and the other fifty.

42 And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most?

43 Simon answered and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, Thou has rightly judged.

44 And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet, but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

45 Thou gavest me no kiss; but this woman since the time I came in hath not ceased to kiss my feet.

46 My head with oil thou didst not anoint but this woman hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much; but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little.

48 And he said unto her, Thy sins are forgiven.

49 And they that sat at meat with him began to say within themselves, Who is this that forgiveth sins also?

50 And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath saved thee; go in peace.

Cleveland's New Charter

Students of municipal affairs, particularly in these days of a concerted movement to rid American cities of control by political machine, will watch with especial interest the experience of the city of Cleveland under the new "home rule" charter which it has just adopted, effective after the November election. It provides that the only municipal officers to be elected are the mayor and the ward councilmen. All administrative officers will be appointed by the mayor and are to be removable by him. The charter abolishes the offices of the city treasurer, city auditor and the city solicitor. The entire idea has been to give the mayor as large a measure of control over the city and a corresponding amount of responsibility for the exercise of that power as is possible. The councilmen are explicitly enjoined from interference with administrative departments and appointments. In the place of the present city departments, all of which are wiped out of existence by the charter, are six chief departments, law, public service, public welfare, public safety, finance and public utilities. Each of these departments is to be under the charge of a director. The director may, if he thinks it necessary for the fullest service of the people, be aided by an unpaid advisory council. Another new feature is the creation of a city planning commission, which will control new buildings, platting of streets and parks and the like. There is also a free employment bureau and a bureau to investigate social and industrial conditions, while the initiative, referendum and recall are important parts of the new charter.

To a very commendable degree Fort Wayne merchants have shown themselves considerate of their employes and willing to co-operate to a marked degree in the early closing movement during the summer months. This is clearly in line with the attitude of the Fort Wayne merchants on other questions as well. They are public spirited and progressive, and will invariably be found lending their support to every forward movement. Even though absolute uniformity of hours in all lines has not been possible of accomplishment in the present instance, there have been concessions that manifest a kindly spirit toward the sales forces, and the experiment will be watched with much interest.

The movement for independent non-political action in municipal affairs is manifestly gaining strength daily in Fort Wayne, simply and solely because of a growing conviction among the people that the personal qualifications and civic views of city officials are infinitely more vital to the question of good city government than the question whether the official is a high protectionist or a believer in the policy of tariff for revenue only. Partisan labels never had any sort of significance in municipal affairs. It is the men and their conception of public duty with which Fort Wayne is most concerned.

With the thermometer readings ranging up in the nineties, Bloomingdale citizens are going steadily forward with their meetings to promote the growth and development of the north side, undismayed by terrific heat and showing no disposition to lose heart in the fight. Plainly the north siders are demonstrating that they deserve many of the things for which they are battling.

HOW TO DODGE LOCKJAW ON THE FOURTH —AND ANY OTHER TIME.

DR. HIRSHBERG.

(Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshberg, M. D.)

There are three ways to avoid the lock that reaps its annual harvest after the Fourth of July.

One was is not by using explosives on "the day we celebrate."

Another is by cutting open widely the wound and cauterizing every nook and cranny of it to its utmost recesses with carbolic acid.

The best method of all is by injecting lockjaw antitoxin into the tissues immediately.

Tetanus antitoxin is an absolutely certain preventive if the patient is inoculated within one or two hours after the injury has occurred. It destroys the toxins or poisons that are spread through the system by the tetanus bacilli, and which, if unchecked, paralyze the nerves and stiff the joins of spine and jaw until death results.

No other virulent organism is more widely distributed in nature than the tetanus germ. It is found in the litter of every barnyard and in the dust of every city street. The prongs of every pitchfork harbor it and it is in the earth of every field and flower garden. It has been found in dirty clothes, on shoe soles, in gutters, on the surface of fruit, on pocket knives and even in sea water.

But this bacillus, though well-nigh omnipresent, is far from vigorous.

Sunlight and fresh air are its chief enemies. It is also easily killed by most of the common antiseptics.

When the bacilli are introduced into a wound the body makes an effort to combat them and prevent their entrance into the blood stream.

If the wound is an open one, into which light and air may enter, the bacilli are killed soon and their dead bodies are expelled.

But in case the bacilli happen to get into a deep or ragged wound, they increase rapidly and begin to send their toxins into all parts of the body.

This is what often happens on the Fourth of July when some luckless small boy wounds himself with a toy pistol. The powder makes a ragged, confused wound and drives into its depths the tetanus bacilli that happen to be living in the grime upon his hand.

Instead of sending for a doctor and having the wound properly washed and dressed, the boy's mother binds it up herself, perhaps with a dirty rag—and tells him to stop crying. This means that the lockjaw germs are left where the powder forced them deep down in the lacerated tissue, among the dead and dying skin cells, and cut off from all light and air.

Protected thus, and living under conditions ideally adapted to their welfare, the bacilli begin to multiply and poison the nervous system.

Such a wound should always be cleansed thoroughly with carbolic acid and watched daily. This can be done only by an experienced physician.

And then tetanus antitoxin should be injected into the patient's veins to kill the poisons as fast as they are given off by the bacilli.

If this is done when the wound occurs the patient recovers. If delayed until lockjaw symptoms appear, antitoxin is of little help.

An amount just sufficient to confer immunity in the case of a suspected wound costs $1 and the amount needed to arrest an ordinary case costs from $25 to $10.

Whenever one secures a lacerated wound, it is advisable to wash it thoroughly and at once with soap and water and to flood it, before binding it up, with common peroxide of hydrogen. The peroxide gives off oxygen, which causes the death of all tetanus germs it reaches.

After this has been done, the wound should be covered with a strip of the antiseptic bandage sold at low cost by all drug stores.

A clean, open wound, which bleeds freely, is little apt to harbor the germs of lockjaw. Unless the flow of blood is excessive, it is well to make no effort to stop it. It will cease of itself in a few moments.

It is well to have a doctor dress all wounds, no matter how small they may be. He alone is capable of washing them as they should be washed and of estimating the likelihood of infection. His fee is money well invested. It may buy only insurance against a long, terrible, painful and expensive illness, and then again it may buy insurance against death.

OUR NATION'S IDEALS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

The Baron d'Estournelles Constant in his new book, "The United States of America," gives reasons why this country should not endow itself with the luxuries of militarism or load itself down with a big navy, the only trouble with which is that they are so unanswerable that they are totally ignored by our representatives of the jingo mood.

He refuses to believe that the United States is in more danger of attack than it was at any previous time in its history, for both practical and political reasons.

First, the old sailing fleets, far inferior to modern ships in speed and gun power, could remain away from port for two years and continue effective fighting. A ship of the line or frigate could sail from Europe, blockade an American coast for two years, and be as fit for fighting at the end of that time as at the beginning. If a battleship or cruiser of today should be away from her coal base for sixty days she would be as powerless as a dismasted vessel of a century ago. That fact makes all naval powers farther away from us than they were in the days of Nelson, except England, and every intelligent man knows that war between the United States and England is a moral impossibility.

As to the political reasons, they are twofold. Europe is so full of fear and suspicion, each government of its close neighbor, that no government would dare to detach a force to attack the United States. In addition, the United States is stronger than it ever was. Remember how, fifteen years ago, the whole world hastened to avow its friendship because we had revealed the possession of five effective battleships and two armored cruisers? Who will denude their home defense to attack us now, when we have a fleet nearly six times as great?

Therefore M. Constant is right. The idealism of the United States has been an immense force with a strong influence on the whole world. To use that influence for the benefit of humanity is the true world's leadership. To surrender it for the greed and selfishness of imperialism would be a stupid folly. Our old ideals were the cause of our advance in the world's ranking of nations.

OUR NATIONAL "HALL OF FAME."

(New York World.)

The inclusion of a statute of Senator "Zach" Chandler in Statuary hall at the capitol occurs at a time when Lieutenant Governor Ingalls is making efforts to have the Kansas legislature require congress to remove the effigy of his father, Senator John J. Ingalls, from its place there and return it to the state. Mr. Ingalls bases his action on "the diminished reverence for" and "humorous public comment on" the "national sanctuary."

Apparently they are less sensitive about such things in Michigan. But could it rationally have been supposed that the American sense of humor would take seriously a national "hall of fame" established on these conditions? It is proper for the various states to fill the corridors of congress with statues of senators who have represented them there, and of their other public men. But the effigies of "favorite sons" duly certified by state legislatures do not wholly make a "national sanctuary."

The American public has its popular idols and is lavish enough of affection for them. But it objects to having them ticketed or certified. It does not sympathize with the nation of official Pantheons and Valhallas, and even views with a certain degree of mirth the occasional projects for an academy of literary "immortals," members to be nominated by boards of directors.

There are statutes in Statuary hall to Americans whose deeds have inspired a reverence that grows with time. But that reverence does not necessarily extend to the collective groups of statuary. It is not a satisfactory representative collection, and as respects artistic execution it can hardly be regarded as a "sanctuary" of national sculpture.

FROM VOLENCE TO LAW.

(Kansas City Times.)

The Munsall disclosures show among other things the value that national commission on industrial relations can be to the country.

Lobbying will be as extinct as the dodo when this investigation is ended, says President Wilson.

And as for the industrial relations of labor and capital, must not the violence that works sometimes by dynamite and sometimes by bribery and lawless militia must not that, too, become extinct?

The people connect, inevitably, the McNamara incidents on the one hand, and, on the other hand, the secret lobbying against labor laws, the bribery of politicians, and such misuse of authority as those in West Virginia.

All such acts, on whichever side committed, are acts of anarchy.

It is certain that President Wilson's purpose is to remove all questions that are of vital import to the people from the domain of private and secret struggle to the field of open investigation and public discussion and public action. It is in aid of that purpose that the industrial relations commission has been named.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

WATER FAMINE IS GRIPPING VAN WERT

All Efforts to Augment Supply and Relieve Situation Fail and Economy is Urged on Consumers.

Van Wert, Ohio, July 3.—The supply of water in the city waterworks mains is the lowest in the history of the plant and little or no water is available for consumers during the early hours of the morning. The level of the water in the deep wells, under the heavy consumption attendant upon the torrid weather, has receded to the point where the big air lift fails to raise it to within the reach of the pumps and as a result only a partial supply is available for the mains. It has been given out that the limit of endeavor is being exercised to meet the demands, but their efforts are of little avail with present equipment, and better conditions can not be expected until pumps designed to meet the situation are installed. The imperative need for immediate relief is economy in consumption. Otherwise drastic measures will be taken to reduce the consumption. One of the measures proposed being to prohibit entirely the use of lawn hose or at best to no permit this class of service to exceed one hour each day. The department suffers also the handicap of a lack of funds to meet the emergency.

In order to insure full fire protection the supply in the reserve reservoir is being held, under the order to not turn the pumps onto the reservoir at any time except for fire protection. A further precaution against a severe fire loss has been taken in the placing of one of the big steamers into service at the department headquarters, in the city building. The steamer has been placed in the main section, equipped with drop harness, so as to hook with a team quickly, and until the drought is past it will be taken wth a hose wagon in response to all alarms. The steamer is fitted for suction connection with the city water plugs and even in event of no pressure on the mains it would pump a supply from the water lying in the mains. This extreme, however, is not probable, for the big reservoir contains a supply ample for all ordinary fires during a single season.

HUNTINGTON ASSURED HOSPITAL.

Lease Is Closed for Property by the Hospital Association.

Huntington, Ind., July 3.—The Huntington Hospital association has closed the lease for the Huntington hospital, which for several years was under the direction of the late Dr. Helen K. McIlvaine, and is to have possession for a period of one year.

Detailed arrangements are not completed and the officers of the hospital association were not in a position yesterday to say who will be placed in charge of the hospital.

It is understood, however, that the equipment will remain practically as it is. The association has in view the erection of a new hospital and, while the present institution will be operated on a strictly first-class basis, it is not the intention to invest a greater amount of money than absolutely necessary.

SAYS WIFE IS UNFAITHFUL.

Roy Loyd, of Upland, Traces His Wife to Bluffton.

Marion, Ind., July 3.—Roy Loyd, of Upland, complaining of his wife, Pearl Loyd, says that on very brief acquaintance she became infatuated with Rollie Reed, a stranger to the plaintiff, that the two have written endearing letters to one another and have held clandestine meetings in Upland and Hartford City.

Loyd says the infatuation of his wife for Reed became such she said she cared nothing more for him, the plaintiff, and that she loved only Rollie Reed.

Loyd says his wife took her clothes and their five year old daughter on June 2 and left Upland. She now lives at 219 North Marion street, Bluffton, but he does not know where Reed is. Attorney E. H. Graves represents the plaintiff in his suit filed yesterday in the circuit court.

COLUMBIA CITY WITHOUT BRICK.

Famine Causes Suspension of Building Operations There.

Columbia City, Ind., July 3.—Columbia City is suffering a brick famine and in consequence work has almost entirely been suspended on a number of fine new structures. The brick yards at this place were idle this summer and the contractors were obliged to send to other towns for brick, which has not yet arrived.

In addition to the buildings in the city there are some country school houses to be built, and the chances are that all the work will be delayed far into the winter. It would seem that this would have been an excellent year for the local brick yard to be put in operation.

CONTRACT TO CHICAGO FIRM.

Bluffton, Ind., July 3.—The Bjork Brothers' Construction company, of Chicago, was awarded the general contract for the new Studebaker bank building and work of tearing down the old building will be started one week from Monday. This contract includes the building, with the exception of the interior finish and equipment of the bank proper, which will be awarded in a separate contract. The Bjork Brothers' contract includes the finishing of the second floor, which will be taken up with five suites of office rooms.

MANIAC ATTEMPTS TO BREAK JAIL

Monmouth Man, Who Threatened Life of Father, Almost Gets Away from Decatur Bastile.

Decatur, Ind., July 3.—Only for a timely discovery Charles Lord, of Monmouth, held in the county jail on an insanity charge, would have made his escape.

When discovered he had broken a window glass and was endeavoring to crawl out between the bars that are placed over the window to keep the prisoners safely in the jail. He had managed to get his head and about half of his body through the bars when discovered.

When he saw that he was detected he crawled back and awaited another opportunity when the chances might be better. It was not long until another effort was made, but this time he made the effort feet foremost, and was almost through the bars when again detected. Sheriff Durkin then locked him in a cell that escape might be impossible.

When first taken to the jail Lord was placed up stairs in the woman's department, but as the heat was intense there, Mr. Durkin removed him to the men's department on the first floor. Had he gotten through the bars he would have had a drop of only a few feet to the ground and could easily have gotten away.

PRECAUTION FOR POWER.

Bluffton Officials Plan for Protection During Installation of Equipment.

Bluffton, Ind., July 3.—Mayor Smith and members of the council are trying to make arrangements with the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley to protect consumers of city current in case of a serious break down at the light plant. They realize that Supt. DeHaven and his men are doing all they can with a very limited equipment, pending the installation of the new machinery, but if the cost is not prohibitive they will arrange to have wiring installed to enable them to connect the city lines with the interurban power at the sub-station north of town on a very few moments notice, if necessary.

FALLS INTO A CISTERN.

Hartford City, Ind., July 3.—Mrs. Ed Jones, of North High street, had a harrowing experience when she fell part way into a cistern at the rear of her home. Workmen are engaged in remodeling the Jones residence and upon going out into the yard Mrs. Jones stepped on a board which turned with her. In falling she stepped on the covering over the cistern, which gave way under her weight. In the descent Mrs. Jones succeeded in catching hold of the porch foundation and sustaining herself until workmen rescued her. There is seven feet of water in the cistern and some difficulty might have been encountered in rescuing the woman had she disappeared completely through the opening.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM BOLT.

Pierceton, Ind., July 3.—E. F. Fletcher, proprietor of the auto livery and supply barn here, had a narrow call for his life during a thunderstorm. He was at his place of business and working at a hydrant in the room, turning on some water, when a bolt of lightning came in over the pipe line and struck him with such force that he was thrown about eight feet and his left side was paralyzed quite severely for about two hours. He has now almost entirely recovered from the shock, but the realization of the very narrow escape has not by any means passed from his memory.

DELIVERS STATE'S MONEY.

Bluffton, Ind., July 3.—County Treasurer J. A. McBride has gone to Indianapolis with a warrant for $20,092.60, which will be turned over to the auditor as the state's share of Wells county's taxes for the last six months.

The O. K. on the settlement sheet, completed last Saturday, was received over the telephone early this morning and Treasurer McBride started to the capital with the money immediately. He will return home this evening.

KIL-SO-QUAH THE ATTRACTION.

Roanoke, Ind., July 3.—Kil-so-Quah, the Miami princess, will be the principal attraction at Roanoke's Fourth of July celebration. The total number of pieces of mail collected was 6,625, weighing 294 pounds. The number of pieces delivered was 63,964, these weighing 8,147 pounds.

CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Outlook in Wells County Is Said to Be Encouraging.

Bluffton, Ind., July 3.—Wells county's crops have not been so badly hit by the heat and drouth of the past few weeks as many people would imagine. Persons familiar with the crop conditions in the county say that the corn is showing up in very fine shape and has made a wonderful growth in the past week. With a few rains during this month and August Wells county will have as big a crop as ever. It now stands more than knee high in almost all parts of the county.

The oats will not amount to over 50 per cent. of the normal crop, due partially to the very hot weather. The wheat crop stands in no immediate danger, as the wheat is practically all "made" and the farmers around Bluffton are beginning to cut their wheat. A severe storm would probably mean a loss in wheat and for this reason the farmers will rush the work of cutting with all possible speed.

The fruit crop in this section is very poor this year, entirely due to the unseasonable weather.

Burial at Elkhart Today of Sisters Drowned in River.

Elkhart, Ind., July 3.—The bodies of the four Schwin sisters, who were drowned while wading in the St. Joe river northeast of Elkhart, were buried in one grave at Zion church cemetery in Washington township this afternoon.

BURGLARS ARE BUSY THERE.

Several Attempts Made to Break Into Columbia City Homes.

Columbia City, Ind., July 3.—It is believed that home talent, encouraged by the ease with which homes may be entered during the hot weather, when householders are compelled to sleep with doors ajar and windows raised, has been responsible for several attempts at burglary in this city during the past week. Marauders have been frightened away from a number of residences. None of the work bears the marks of skilled housebreakers, though no clues have been obtained that can lead to arrests.

FIANCEE WOULD NOT WAIT.

Elkhart Young Man Ends Life Because She Would Not Postpone Day.

Elkhart, Ind., July 3.—That the suicide of Jay Dillman, a resident of west of Goshen, was caused by melancholia, due to the fact that his fiancee would not consent to an early marriage, is the belief of friends from facts that have developed since the discovery of the body. Dillman, a young man of about 21 years, was employed by Wilson Rood on his farm about four miles west of Goshen, living alone in a shack near the Dell school house, within a half mile of his father's home. The young man had been working hard, trying to save money on which to be married.

His right ankle was caught beneath it and broken.

The others were Leon Seckler, an assistant manager of the Bell Telephone exchange at St. Joe, and George W. Milliman, a barber of that place. Columbia City, Ind., July 3.—Miss Pauline Miller, aged 21 years, daughter of Alex Miller, residing just west of this city, on the old Dennie Walter farm, met with a painful misfortune when she was pitched off the rear end of a load of hay and fell on her right elbow, sustaining a bad fracture in the joint, which will probably result in a stiff arm. Her mother was on the front end of the load and started the team without her daughter's knowledge, which caused the latter to become overbalanced and plunge to the ground.

LOCOMOTIVE STARTS FIRE.

Decatur, Ind., July 3.—Fire supposed to have had its origin in a spark from an engine on the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad, totally destroyed a barn belonging to Perry Ogg and damaged three cars on a siding belonging to the railroad. When the fire was first discovered it was burning in dry grass and rubbish near the barn. A call was sent in but before the fire engine could reach the place the barn was enveloped in flames.

REDKEY BEER DESTROYED.

She was found by her mother immediately after she had taken the poison and physicians succeeded in saving her life. "I got so tired of life, Richmond and everything else that I decided to kill myself," was the young woman's only explanation.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT IN WATER BLISTERS

Scratched It So Hard All Sore. On Hand, Then on Legs. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Six Weeks.

748 Congress St., Chicago, Ill. — "My eczema broke out like little water blisters. Each one was full of water and would itch until I would scratch it open, then the water would run out and it would get sore. I first got the eczema on the back of the hand and I scratched it so hard I made it all sore. Then I got it on my legs just above the ankle and above the knee.

"I used what they call ——— and it stopped the itch but it got worse. Then I used ———. In all I had the trouble for about two years. One day I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper. I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I tried them and then bought some more. Cuticura Soap and Ointment left my sores nice and smooth. I used them for six weeks, and am now cured: the eczema left no marks." (Signed) F. W. Horrisch, Oct. 19, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. AT THE EMPRESS

Tonight, as an extra added feature of the Empress show, E. J. Wolff, of Lakeside, expert swimmer, will give an exhibition of fancy swimming in the huge tank, used by Pattee's Diving Girls. Mr. Wolff was formerly the instructor at the Lakeside pool and is as much at home in the water as the average man is on land. His exhibition tonight will include fancy stunts, together with a brief talk on the importance of teaching the youngsters to swim.

All three performances for tomorrow, the Fourth, will be reserved, this including the matinee at 2:30 and the two shows at night at 7:30 and 9:00. If you are planning to stay in town tomorrow, it is advisable that you call early for tickets, for the fame of the Empress as a cool spot has gone forth and there is certain to be a lively demand for seats for all three performances tomorrow.

Friday night will be the contest for amateur girl divers and to the winner of this event will go a handsome silver trophy cup. There are now several entries and there is sure to be some rare fun, as well as good diving. The girls will appear at both performances on Friday night.

AT THE JEFFERSON

The offering at the Jefferson is two excellent pictures, one a Solax one-reel feature entitled "The Message of Heaven," and a Rex, "A Woman's Folly," an unusual dramatic. Shreve, Sternberger and Hartzler, entertainers.

The Battle of Gettysburg—Starting Friday at 1 o'clock "The Battle of Gettysburg" will start a two days' engagement. The picture is in five reels. Local people that have seen this production in Chicago say that it is the greatest motion picture ever made. At the present time this film is showing in New York city, Columbus, O., Detroit and Cincinnati, not in picture shows, but in first-class theaters and at top prices.

THE AIRDOME.

Two audiences that tested the seating capacity of the Airdome gathered at the out door theater last night and enjoyed the vaudeville and pictures out in the cool, fresh air. The bill is made up of four acts and include Gilmore and Castle in a very funny black faced act; Wilbur and Love in a sensational ring act; Edith Ward in songs and stories of the national game, and Frank and Edith Long in a bright and snappy singing and talking act complete an entertainment that is worth more than double the price of admission.

Two shows are given every evening at 8 and 9:15.

TESTED RECIPES

By CAROLINE COE.

San Diego Spice Cake.

One cup brown sugar.

Two cups of molasses.

On cup lard and butter.

One teaspoon cinnamon.

One teaspoon of cloves.

One-half teaspoon of nutmeg.

Four eggs.

One-half pound of currants.

One-half pound of raisins (chopped or cut).

One-half cup cold coffee.

Pinch of salt.

One-half teaspoon of soda (sifted).

Sift the soda into flour enough to make a stiff batter.

Cream shortening and sugar and add eggs, one at a time, beating vigorously. Add flour, added a little at a time, and a little of the currents and raisins each time. Have cake mixture stiff as drop biscuit dough. Bake slowly in pan with center tube for forty-five minutes.

Will keep moist long time.

Lemon Cream Pie.

Take the yolks of two eggs, beat into one cup of granulated sugar until creamy, add to this two even tablespoons of cornstarch. Beat all until smooth, with a tiny pinch of salt. Put into double boiler, with one cup of water. Cook until a consistency of cream, about ten minutes. When ready to take off the fire stir in the juice and grated rind of one lemon and a piece of butter the size of a hickory nut. Allow to become cool before turning into a baked pie shell. Whip the whites of the two eggs to a stiff froth, fold in three even tablespoons of pulverized sugar, spread over pie and brown in the oven.

HINTS AND RECIPES

(By Mrs. Mary Miller.)

In my recipes given under "Hints and Recipes" the one thing that is absolutely necessary is the use of good, pure flavoring, as you cannot expect the delicious pastries called for in my recipes unless the best materials are used. I invariably recommend a brand that I know will be successful in my recipes.

STRAWBERRY SPONGE.

One and one-third tablespoons gelatine, one-third cup cold water, one-third cup boiling water, one cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice, one cup crushed strawberries, whites of three eggs, whip from three cups cream. Soak gelatine in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, strain and add sugar, lemon juice and strawberries. Chill in pan of ice water; when quite thick, beat with wire beater until frothy, then add stiffly beaten whites and fold in whip from cream. Line a mould with sections of oranges, turn in mixture, smooth evenly and chill.

LEMON JELLY.

To a package of gelatine, add one pint of cold water, juice of four lemons, let stand one hour. Add one pint of boiling water, one-half teaspoon SOUDERS' Lemon, three cups sugar. Let come to a boil, strain through a cloth into a mold and cool.

RICE PUDDING.

Two cups milk, three-fourths cup cooked rice, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon lemon juice, one-half cup chopped raisins. Heat the milk, add the rice, salt and sugar; mix well, then add the raisins and lemon juice. Put into a buttered bake dish and bake 20 to 30 minutes. Make a meringue and put on top.

JESSIE WILSON IS SOON TO WED

Engagement of President's Second Daughter is Announced

FROM WHITE HOUSE

Washington, July 3.—President Wilson's declaration that the generally supposed hoodoo "13" was his lucky number and always had been, was recalled by society today in connection with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the President and Mrs. Wilson, to Francis B. Sayre, of Lancaster, Pa. The influence of the president's lucky "13," it is believed, extends to the entire Wilson family. For Miss Wilson, engaged in 1913, and to become a matron in 1913, will be the "13th" white house bride.

The first wedding in the white house was during the Madison administration, when in 1811 Miss Lucy Payne Washington became the wife of Judge Todd, of Kentucky. Miss Washington was a sister of Mrs. Madison and in the following year Mrs. Madison gave up the white house for the wedding of a cousin, Miss Anna Todd.

Weddings followed after that in the Monroe and Adams administrations until President Jackson set the record for nuptials under official auspices. During his regime three weddings were solemnized. The last wedding was that of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, in 1906.

The only president of the United States to be married in the white house was President Cleveland, who married Miss Frances Folsom there in 1886. The total to date is twelve. Miss Wilson"s wedding will be the thirteenth. It will occur in November.

Mr. Sayre is 28 years old and is at present an attorney in the office of District Attorney Whitman, of New York. Miss Wilson is 24 years old and was educated at Goucher college, Baltimore, and specialized in political science. She has done much settlement work in Philadelphia and has been actively identified with the Y. W. C. A., having recently made many speeches in its behalf.

INDIANA MEN AT GETTYSBURG

Hoosier Contingent Holds Most Impressive of the State Reunions.

HEAR MANY SPEAKERS

Gettysburg, Pa., July 3.—The Indiana meeting held yesterday with Governor Ralston as the principal speaker, was the most impressive, both in numbers present and in sentiments expressed, of the dozen other state reunions in progress under the great tent at the same hour. Governor Ralston was listened to by five hundred Indianans and by many soldiers from other states. The governor was applauded again and again as he paid tribute to the heroism of those who fought fifty years ago on the ground on which he stood while speaking. When he concluded he was surrounded by Veterans of both north and south, anxious to shake his hand.

One of the most impressive features of the meeting and reunion was a tribute from J. W. Fesler, of Indianapolis, to his father, Lieut. Col. J. R. Fesler, who was present.

"This is the proudest moment of my life," said Mr. Fesler with much feeling. "As I stand on this hallowed and sacred ground with my father, who fifty years ago won for himself immortal fame, I am proud to be the son of a civil war veteran, and I know this is the feeling of every son and daughter of the Gettysburg heroes and of those who fought in other battles. I consider it the greatest privilege of my life to be present at this wonderful celebration."

Col. Fesler Touched.

Col. Fesler stood up by request, that his comrades might see him, but he was too overcome with emotion to speak a single word. He was greeted with a round of cheers.

In the crowd were several survivors of the Twenty-seventh Indiana regiment who were with him when he led a charge across Spangler's meadow fifty years ago this morning.

"This celebration on this historic ground affords a lesson in patriotism that will survive as long as liberty lasts," said State Senator Will R. Wood, of Lafayette. "Scenes have been enacted here this week which have been most impressive. Never was a grander picture painted than a living picture I saw yesterday at Bloody Angle. There I saw six men in gray on one side of a stone wall and six men in blue on the other side shaking hands across that bloody line of fifty years ago as they posed for a photograph. I talked with one of the former confederates and he told me that he was glad that the war had ended in a united, rather than a divided, nation. It is sentiments such as this that make this celebration well worth what it has cost."

Senator Wood was introduced as one who urged the passage by the legislature of the bill providing for the transportation of the Indiana veterans to Gettysburg.

Honan Speaks.

"I was not old enough to become a soldier, but I did the next best thing and became the son of a soldier," said Attorney General Honan. "A person is not always greatly impressed by reading the history of a battle, but one can not help but be inspired when he visits the scene of a great battle and has a survivor of that battle tell of the fighting and point out the very spot where some of his comrades gave their lives that the nation might live."

Capt. David E. Beem, of Spencer, Ind., said he was greatly pleased when a "Johnny" declared that he rejoiced with the soldiers who wore the blue that the union was not dissolved and that he considered the result of that war to have made this the world's foremost nation.

Representative W. W. Spencer read a resolution which the fifty former confederate soldiers from Indiana prepared, in which they expressed their appreciation to Governor Ralston and the Indiana Gettysburg commission for being invited to meet here with men who once were their foes, but who are now their friends.

Capt. J. V. Hadley, of Danville, who presided, and Dr. N. D. Cox, of Spencer, also delivered addresses which pleased their comrades.

Dr. Cox said that this celebration lays the way for the erection of a peace monument. The meeting closed with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones, of Lebanon, leading in the singing of "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Grounds."

BLOOMINGDALE MEETING.

Improvement Association Wants Street Car Extension.

In regular session Wednesday night, members of the North Side Civic Improvement association took up the matter of street car extensions in the Ninth ward, and went on record asking for some immediate action in the matter of opening and extending High street. To look after the latter business, a committee was appointed with Peter A. Deitschel, William A. Bayer and John Wefel as members.

The members also discussed the annexation of 150 acres of land lying northwest of the Ninth ward, but no action was taken. The next meeting of the association will be held on the first Wednesday evening in August, at which time the organization will have completed its second year.

MERCHANTS COME TO AN AGREEMENT

Retail Clerks Benefited by Early Closing Plan Adopted

IN SPECIAL SESSION

Proprietors of local dry goods, millinery, five-and-ten-cent, and ladies' ready-to-wear stores, in a special meeting with the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association Wednesday night at the Commercial club, agreed to close their places of business at 6 o'clock each Saturday evening during the remainder of this month and throughout the month of August.

Under separate agreement the clothiers and shoe merchants will close at 10 o'clock each Saturday evening instead of 11 o'clock and in addition will give their clerks ten days' vacation instead of one week under full pay. Included among signers of this agreement are the Main and Barr street merchants, who in the past kept their stores open for trade every night and on Sundays.

The grocery stores and butcher shops will continue the plan adopted by them last season, in giving their employes a half-holiday each Wednesday afternoon. The Fort Wayne Jewelers' association will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening, and it is said they will fall into line by closing on Saturday evenings during the summer.

Five of the seven furniture stores of the city will close during the summer at 6 o'clock on Saturday evenings. They are Foster's, Pape's, Fox Bros., Pickard's and the Indiana Furniture company. The Seavey Hardware company has also expressed a willingness to close each Saturday evening during the months of July and August.

Pathetic Gettysburg.

By HENRY M. WILLIAMS.

Among the eternally fighting monarchies of Europe such scenes are not possible as are shown this week on the fifty year old "Gettysburg battlefield."

Two lines of old soldiers, federal and confederate, will march toward each other, many on crutches, some with one leg only, pegging away, slowly drawing nearer, and then still nearer, until right at each other rushing they meet, crutches are dropped on the ground and arms go around necks in most hearty greeting of good will, good wishes.

One of the most pathetic sights in all this world's history will be these old soldiers' hearty embraces on the very ground where fifty years ago all was "bayonet and bullets" and murderings innumerable. "War is hell," peace is heaven, the lesson of these fifty year contrasts.

We Forgive the South.

We forgive the southerners for their powerful effort to destroy the glorious union of the states, for their hard fought battles "to be let alone," to make 500 million dollars annually from "black slave labor" in cotton and in sugar. We forgive those dreadful sins of theirs, but the lesson learned must not be forgotten, that injustice shall never be tolerated. Cotton or no cotton, sugar or no sugar, justice comes first, justice first, justice always.

PONTIAC PLACE

OVER $100,000 ALREADY PAID FOR IMPROVEMENTS.—THE SECOND ADDITION TO BE PLACED ON THE MARKET.

Pontiac Place company, who last ye established a record for quick work, both in improving and selling its first addition of 267 lots, is about to duplicate its former record, by again offering to the public 228 lots, just south of the former addition, and comprising most of the remaining portion of the Concordia college farm, at the end of the Pontiac street car line, and extending along Anthony boulevard.

Beginning at Eckert street, just south of Pontiac street, the company has extended the pavement on Euclid avenue and Central drive, entirely through the addition. It has also laid out an eighty foot boulevard, from Anthony boulevard east, and extending through the beautiful grove. This is being paved with asphalt and is to be known as Drexel boulevard. More than three miles of cement sidewalks are being laid. All of the main and alley sewers are now in. City water is furnished every lot. Shade trees planted throughout the addition. A handsome entrance of pressed brick pillars, with iron fence, constructed in classic design, is being placed at the head of Drexel boulevard.

The company has reserved fifty of these lots that cannot be bought until the opening sale, but following the same course taken last year, have placed a man in the office at the addition who will assist prospective buyers in picking out any of the other lots at once. The reserved lots are scattered throughout the addition, and those that are now offered are among the most desirable.

This is the only addition ever offered in the city where most of the streets are paved. Where all of the lots have all of the improvements and best of all everything is paid for. All the buyer has to do is to pay $10 cash and a small monthly payment and watch his lot grow in value as new houses are built near them. The prices are extremely low, ranging from $325 to $750 on the boulevard, with a few corners slightly higher.

More than $75,000 worth of new homes have been built in the first addition since last fall and lots have advanced in value as new buildings spring up.

If you want to start now for a home, or invest a few dollars in a proposition that is perfectly safe and where there are no objectionable surroundings, go out to the addition office, or telephone the W. E. Dond Agency and they will see that you are shown these lots at any time.—Adv.

BIG OFFER FOR PACIFIC COAST MAN

JOHNNY WILLIAMS, Sensational Pitcher of the Pacific Coast.

Sacramento, Cal., July 3.—Twelve thousand dollars has been offered the Sacramento ball club of the Pacific coast league for Johnny Williams, the young pitcher who is this season leading the coast twirlers. Several major league clubs are after him and have been bidding against each other until the price has reached this figure, the largest ever offered for a Pacific coast league ball player. Jim McGuire, scout for the Detroit club, is looking Williams over, and it is possible the bid will yet be raised. Manager Wolverton, of the Sacramento team, declares he will make no cash deal for Williams. He will consider only a trade, including a pitcher of known ability and another good man.

STARS WOULD NOT HAVE WON IN 1912

Straight and Narrow Paths Were Up to Bender and Oldring Last Season.

CONNIE NOT WORRIED

Philadelphia, July 3.—It has long been the talk that had Chief Bender and Rube Oldring followed the straight and narrow path the Athletics and Giants would have fought it out last fall for the world's baseball title.

For the critics and the fans had it that the 1912 Red Sox were mighty lucky champions and not in the same class with the Athletics at their best.

But Connie Mack has no such belief. The Philadelphia leader says the Red Sox won the 1912 championship because they played the best ball and had the best team and he expects them to get up this season and battle with the Athletics down the home stretch.

The tall tactician of the Athletics looks upon it as a blessing that Bender and Oldring chose 1912 and not 1913 for their fall from the water wagon. "Even with Oldring and Bender in the game right up to their necks," declared Connie, "I doubt if we could have won last season. Not only were some of our other players not giving us the game of which they were capable—not that they were not trying, but it was simply an off year—but the Red Sox were playing the real thing.

"I never looked upon Stahl's team as lucky. Instead I think that last season they played the best and most consistent baseball the American league has ever seen up to the present time, better and more consistent even than the Athletics showed in 1910 and 1911."

Connie professes not to be worrying greatly about the pennant, saying he and his "boys," as he calls his players, will cross that bridge when they come to it. At the same time the head of the house of McGillicuddy thinks his team is better right now, aside from the pitching, in every way than it was in 1910 and 1911, when world's championships were brought to Philadelphia.

MANY FIGHTERS ARE AFTER TITLE

Championship Row Expected to Follow the Death of McCarty.

QUESTION IS NOW UP

Already the boxing fans of the country are trying to decipher who is the white heavyweight champion in consequence of the passing of Luther McCarty. At the outset the general opinion appears to be that there is one man who stands out above all others and is justly entitled to inherit the mantle that was taken away from McCarty in such a tragic manner.

Before disclosing this interesting secret of who the logical champion is, it is well to bear in mind the fact that there will be more claimants than there ever were—and the candidates beforehand were sufficient to constitute themselves into a regular organized regiment. It is only necessary for the first horror of the McCarty fatality to die away before the horizon becomes clouded with a multitude of fighters who feel they are justly entitled to the crown McCarty held.

With Arthur Pelkey cleared of the charge resting against him, it is more than probable that he will project himself into the limelight with a gold-inlaid claim for the heavyweight title on the ground that he defeated the man who was recognized as holding it. It's a bit ghastly, 'tis true, for a boxer to make such a contention when in the position that Pelkey is, but that is part of the game.

Taking it for granted that Pelkey will put in his bid. It is difficult to dispose of him and his contentions. If Pelkey were champion, pugilism would have a real cheese champion—not of the variety associating itself with "Ad" Wolgast as the lightweight title holder or "Johnny" Coulon as the featherweight kingpin, but a real bit of fromage such as has never been permitted to roam at large in exclusive circles at any previous time. To call Pelkey a second rater is flattering him. To say he is a third rater is giving him all the credit he could wish for.

The next two men who will undoubtedly claim the championship are "Jim" Flynn and "Al" Palzer. There is a bit more substance to what reasons they may have to offer, especially with regard to Flynn. The Pueblo fireman has had a ring career marked by some achievements that others in the heavyweight division cannot boast of. At his best he is only a fair fighter. In fact, that is as far as you can go in speaking of Flynn—to say he is a fighter. He is not a boxer in any sense of the word, but just a rough-and-tumble artist, whose sole reliance in winning a battle is putting over a knockout punch.

"Jess" Willard might have been a strong contender for the title of leading heavyweight, but his recent reverses put him out of the running. Willard was defeated by "Gunboat" Smith in a twenty-round fight recently, and in that bout showed nothing by which he could be distinguished as more than an ordinary member of the heavyweight division. Neither did "Gunboat" Smith display anything remarkable, but by virtue of this victory he is unquestionably entitled to recognition as the leading boxer in his class.

Even before death eliminated the unfortunate McCarty from the championship class there were many who contended that he had no more right to lay claim to the title than did Smith. With him it was more a case of beating the others to it. He and his manager simply announced that Luther was the champion and though they were both nullified for daring to make that declaration, the fact remains that McCarty won his point, and was called the champion. It made no difference to McCarney and McCarty what criticism was passed regarding them so long as the big fact was not overlooked—namely that the cowboy fighter had attached himself to the title and would not be separated from it.

"Gunboat" Smith, though not a finished fighter by any means, has done almost as much as McCarty did. He has always been ready and willing to meet all comers and has decisively defeated all the men with whom he has fought in recent years. He has shown he possesses a knockout punch, which is one of the first requisites for a champion. He has shown he is game and sturdy at all times and possesses a level head in the ring. His chief difficulty, discounting his lack of knowledge concerning boxing, is his overanxiousness. This was best demonstrated in his bout with George Rodel, the Boer fighter, whom he was unable to knock out for the simple reason that he was trying too hard. When Smith's knockout blow fails to take effect he immediately becomes worried.

THE INTERSTATE AFFAIR.

Dawson Wants to Abandon Season and Start for Another Pennant.

Zanesville, O., July 3—President Charles Dawson, of the Interstate league, has been in communication during the past week with most of the club owners of the Interstate league with reference to a project to abandon the present season as the clubs now stand, award the pennant and commence a new race for a new hunting. Most of the club owners have expressed themselves as favorable to this idea, as it is believed the result would give a better impetus to the sport and would result in increased attendance at the games. Teams which were unfortunately low in the race at the start of the season and never got a good chance to climb, would thus be put on an equal footing with the other clubs and might make it very interesting for the fans. The project is a very feasible one and it is very probable it will be carried out.

Judge Smith, president of the local team, stated that the project was the subject of general discussion but that no action had been taken on it yet. A league meeting will be necessary to carry out this design and is expected in a few days. President Dawson was in Newark and may arrange the transfer of the Wheeling franchise to the Licking capital. He is known to favor the two-pennant project and most of the club owners are with him.

FANS WILL FLOCK FROM HICKSVILLE

All in Readiness for Coming of the Trolley League Champs Tomorrow.

WAMBSGANNS LEAVES

Word from Hicksville announces that twenty automobiles filled with enthusiastic fans are coming to Fort Wayne tomorrow for the Shamrock-Hicksville game at League park. This is the biggest game in Fort Wayne for Independence day, and it is expected by Manager Cleary that the stands will be packed. At any rate there will be a big bunch of youthful Fort Wayne rooters, as all boys under 16 years of age will be admitted free, and the ladies will also be admitted without charges.

Fitzcharles and Fritz will form the battery for the Hicksville Browns, champs of the Trolley league, while Benoy, Robbins and Hoffer will do the heavy work for the Shamrocks.

Shortstop Wambsganss, long with the local semi-professionals, will leave Fort Wayne to join the Cedar Rapids club of the Three-I league, and lines are now being cast about to land a fast man to take his place on the short field with the local club.

LYNCH WANTS TO KNOW.

To Investigate Scrap Between McGraw and Pitcher Brennan.

New York, July 3.—Although no complain thas been filed it was stated at National league headquarters that President Lynch would investigate the assault made upon John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, after the game in Philadelphia. The league executive, who has been absent from his office for several days owing to the death of his sister, was expected back in New York yesterday.

Secretary Heydler said that no mention of the trouble was made in the umpires' report of the game and it was assumed that the officials had left the field before the attack upon McGraw. While it is customary to take up such matters upon formal complaint filed by club managers, or presidents, it is nevertheless within the powers of the league president to investigate violations of the league regulations and impose punishment without waiting for complaints or protests.

FIVE STRAIGHTS TO GRAND RAPIDS

Manager Burke's Home Run Saves Billikens from a Shut Out in Last Game.

PITCHERS THE CAUSE

Grand Rapids, July 3.—The Fort Wayne Billikens pulled out of Grand Rapids with lowered heads and timid steps, suffering the humiliation of defeat in five straight games with the Black Stockings, and completing the series here with only fifteen runs to the locals' total scoring of thirty-six. The haughty Billikens were practically helpless all through the series, taking the narrowest margin in the 6 to 5 game on Tuesday. The defeat in the last game more than makes up Grand Rapids' vengeance for the dropping of four straight on the Fort Wayne grounds several weeks ago. Fort Wayne escaped a complete shut-out in yesterday's game only when Manager Burke bingled a home run, making the score 7 to 1.

It is generally conceded that poor pitching again got the Fort Wayne club in bad. In yestercay's farce it was Loudermilk who caused the trouble, attempting to make a fling, and failing horribly. In the second he allowed five men to pass the home plate. In all three hits, two of which meant extra bases, were gathered off the second with Loudermilk in the box. When Loudy was banished Al Orth was taken into the game, and sore-lingered and sore-armed, the youngster pulled out in fairly good style, but the damage had been done before he went in. Bill Riley twirled for Grand Rapids and had easy sailing throughout the entire session. The score:

JENNINGS IS AFTER LAJOIE.

Would Produce Run-Getting Machine Very Hard to Equal.

Detroit, July 3.—Crawford or Bobby Veach and a big piece of money for Larry Lajoie, the Cleveland second sacker, is the deal President Navin, of the Detroit club, will endeavor to put through. With Lajoie batting after Cobb with Veach or Crawford following, Detroit would have one of the greatest "wrecking crews" in either league, as Veach and Crawford are both .300 hitters. With Cobb on base and Lajoie at bat with his ability to hit almost any sort of ball, Manager Jennings would have a run-producing machine that he believes could not be beaten.

RITCHIE AND RIVERS TO CLASH FOR THE WORLD'S LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

TWO VIEWS OF JOE RIVERS, THE MEXICAN, WHO WILL TRY TO TAKE TITLE FROM WILLIE RITCHIE TOMORROW AT SAN FRANCISCO.

- For world's lightweight championship. Limit, twenty rounds.
- Both contestants Californians.
- Ritchie's end, $18,000, win, lose or draw; largest guarantee ever given a fighter in California.
- First time Ritchie will defend title.
- Second time Rivers has had an opportunity to win lightweight crown.
- Expected receipts, $45,000.

(By Ringsider.)

San Francisco, July 3.—For the first time since he won the world's lightweight title from Ad Wolgast last Thanksgiving day, Willie Ritchie will tomorrow be called uron to defend it against Joe Rivers, and if both boys are in the condition they claim to be, one of the greatest lightweight contests in years should result.

The battle will mark the first time in ring history that two native born Californians will fight for the lightweight championship.

The form on this fight is one of the most peculiar the dopesters have had to wrestle with. Rivers has met all of the tough boys in his division, while Ritchie has met only one of the real topnotchers, and from him he won the championship. Each has met Wolgast and Joe Mandot, but upon their respective showings it is hard to define an angle.

Ritchie had Mandot as good as out in ten rounds, and a little later Mandot took a twenty-round decision from Rivers. Soon thereafter Rivers reversed the decision. On these fights Richie must be given a slight edge. The Wolgast fights, however, muddles the dope.

In Wolgast's four round bout with Ritchie, which was the ex-champion's first following the operation for appendicitis, Ritchie finished the stronger and inflicted the greater punishment.

After several months' rest Wolgast met Rivers and one of the most sensational bouts in Los Angeles resulted. Its finish was so weird that it will be a cause for dispute for years to come. Wolgast was declared the winner, being assisted to his feet by Referee Jack Welch, while Rivers was groveling on the canvas, claiming he had been fouled.

Wolgast had to be carried out of the ring after collapsing, while Rivers recovered quickly and left the ring unaided. In the course of the battle Rivers had landed many a damaging punch, and seemed to be getting nothing worse than an even break up to the finish.

In Ritchie's second battle with Wolgast, the then champion unquestionably had the lead up to the sixteenth round, when Ritchie floored him with a right cross, putting him down for six. The present champion may or may not have been able to finish Wolgast but for the foul punches, but that is a question that can never be decided.

The bout has aroused tremendous interest throughout California because of the native son tinge to it, and the biggest crowd since the memorable Britt-Nelson battle is expected to witness it.

Ritchie is not, apparently, in good physical condition. For a week he has appeared drawn and haggard, which those close to him attribute to worry over his break with Manager Nolan.

On the other side, Rivers is trained to the minute and has worked with a snap and vigor that has surprised those even closest to him.

M'GRAW AND BRENNAN OUT.

Giants' Manager and Phillies' Pitcher Get Five Days for Fist Fight.

New York, July 3.—President Lynch, of the National league, announced today that he had suspended John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Pitcher Brennan, of the Philadelphia club, for a period of five days as a result of a fist fight following the game in Philadelphia on Monday, June 30. In addition Brennan is fined $100. The suspended players will be eligible for active duty again on Wednesday, July 9.

President Lynch took this action after a personal investigation of the affair. He said today that the evidence showed conclusively that both players were in violation of the rules in that they indulged in personalities during the game, and that the feeling aroused thereby was the direct cause of the happenings when the players were leaving the field.

IN THE CHURCHES

MANY PICNICS ON FOURTH.

Churches Will Hold Their Annual Outings Friday.

Probably the largest church picnics scheduled for tomorrow are those of the Precious Blood church, which is to be held in the parish grove at Fourth and Andrews streets, and the Emmans Lutheran church, which will take place in Foster park. Both have made arrangements to handle large crowds, and unless rain interferes, these affairs are expected to create great interest.

The Lutheran churches, St. Paul's Concordia and Emanuel congregations, will hold a children's picnic in Concordia grove. A children's choir of 600 voices will sing several selection. Music will be furnished by the Citizens' band.

Trinity Lutheran church will hold its annual Fourth of July school festival on the church grounds on Huffman street. The Electro-Technic band has been engaged to furnish the music.

A joint picnic of three Christian churches of the city will be held tomorrow at the farm of L. V. Likins, south of the city. This farm may be reached by taking the Bluffton interurban to stop 9, where conveyances will meet the cars at 7, 9, 11 and 1 o'clock. There will be plenty of good things to eat, and also contests for the children and a baseball game for the grown-ups.

BETHEL LADIES AT DECATUR.

Were Guests of Evangelical Ladies' Aid Society of That Place.

A party of twenty-eight members of the Bethel Evangelical church of Fort Wayne entertained Tuesday afternoon by the Decatur Evangelical Ladies' Aid society at the home of Mrs. Fred Linn. The entertainment was highly enjoyable and will be long remembered. A delicious luncheon was served at 7 o'clock and a number of young ladies of the Decatur church assisted Mrs. Linn in serving. Ice cream and cake were to have been served on the lawn but a shower prevented.

The guests from Fort Wayne were: Mrs. Rudolph Humble, Mrs. D. F. Oakes, Mrs. Bandel, Mrs. Cutshall, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Wyatt, Mrs. J. Lehman, Mrs. George Spangler, Mrs. J. Batchel, Mrs. C. W. Carroll, Mrs. Edward Mertz, Mrs. William Mertz, Mrs. L. O. Goff, Mrs. Henry Miller, Mrs. Walter Waltemath, Mrs. C. Wise, Mrs. W. C. Miller, Mrs. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. R. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sheets.

DOINGS IN CHURCH CIRCLES.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet tonight with Mrs. S. W. Boshler, 334 West Butler street.

Rev. George Good, assistant to Dr. Miller, president of Heidelberg university, of Tiffin, O., will occupy the pulpit of the Grace Reformed church next Sunday. Especial interest attaches to this announcement as a number of Fort Wayne young people are contemplating entering Heidelberg university next fall.

The Standard Bearers of the Wayne Street M. E. church will hold their regular business and social session tonight, and all members are requested to be in attendance.

New Officers Named.

At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Plymouth Congregational church last night in the church parlors, the resignation of President Alice Meigs and Vice President Tulburd were accepted. Mrs. C. F. Frysinger, of 2224 South Calhoun street, was named president and Mrs. Milton Smith, of 437 Downing avenue, was elected vice president.

WOMEN GET SEVERE SENTENCE.

London, July 3.—Two militant suffragettes, Kitty Marion and Clara Elizabeth Given, were sentenced today to three years' penal servitude for setting fire to the stands on the Hurst park race course on June 9 and causing $70,000 damage.

TO BRING COLORADO EAST.

Enthusiasts to Show Horace Greeley's "Go West" Was Right.

New York, July 3.—Forty-two years ago Horace Greeley took a colony of sturdy New Yorkers to Colorado. Some of these same New Yorkers are now planning to bring Colorado to this city to show that Greeley knew what he was talking about when he urged the young man in 1871 to "go west." Back of this plan is the Colorado state board of immigration, headed by Governor Ammons. The new Grand Central Palace has been leased for an exposition, to be open during November. President Wilson and his cabinet will be the guests of honor at a banquet on the first night. Governor Ammons later will entertain Governor Sulzer and other governors. Several New York firms concerned in the development of Colorado are assisting.

Mrs. S. R. Longworth, of 1018 Lafayette street, who suffered the bursting of a blood vessel in her head last night, is improved today, and it is thought that she will recover.

The first annual ice cream social of the Sphinx club will be held in Swinney park on Wednesday night, July 9. The club was organized within the last year and efforts are being made to increase the membership.

SENSIBLE DRESS FOR CHILDREN.

Committee From Mothers' Club Meets Manufacturer's Representative.

A committee of members of the Mothers' club of this city met a traveling representative of an eastern manufacturing concern of children's clothing in this city yesterday to discuss the idea already proposed of having dresses of uniform sense and ease for children from 6 to 14 years of age to wear in school. The ladies were assured that it would be possible to manufacture plain and simply made dresses of both cotton and wool with bloomers to match and with pockets in the dresses, of materials of different prices and have them ready for the opening of school in September. The merchants who handle children's clothing have signified their willingness to carry such dresses. This is another step in the plan adopted by women of the city who are interested in a more sensible and general uniform of style in the matter of dress for school children.

AN ODE TO ROBISON PARK.

The following poem written by W. E. Black, dedicated to Manager Williams, was recently handed to The Sentinel. This paper takes great pleasure in printing the same.

If you want a day's amusement,
I'll tell you what to do.
Just go out to Robison park,
Take your wife and children, too.

Get right on the street car,
And take a little ride,
Then get off at Robison park,
Old Fort Wayne's joy and pride.

There everything is up-to-date,
And you'll not find it stale,
For Manager Williams is all O. K.
He doesn't know how to fail.

The park gives joy to old and young,
To big folks and to small,
For Robison park, I'm glad to say,
Is the finest of them all.

For the young folks there's the merry-go-round,
And the glorious kid-land, too.
I'm sure that Manager Williams
Is proud to say it's true.

There are pretty spots for the old folks,
To lunch right in the shade.
Although there's no hard drinks for sale,
You'll find good lemonade.

There's the grand dancing pavilion,
For young men and their girls,
And how they do enjoy it
As they go around in whirls.

There's the glorious roller-coaster,
That is called the great "Blue Streak."
It's very cooling to say the least;
It certainly is a treat.

The scenery all around the park
Is beautiful and just grand.
A courteous treatment you'll receive
If you behave—now understand

But what's the use in talking,
You know that I am right.
For Robison park, you bet your life,
Is the grandest thing in sight.

Now please don't take this for an ad,
Although it reads like one.
I'm giving praises where they're due,
And now my task is done.

Good luck to Manager Williams,
May he prosper every way.
We hope that he and Robison park
With us will always stay.

BRIGGS STILL MISSING.

But Promoter Telephoned After Leaving Suicide Note.

John Briggs, supposedly from Port Huron, Mich., who disappeared from the Anthony hotel Wednesday after leaving a poetic offering in his room advising all concerned that he had poured a pint of whisky down his throat and intended committing suicide by drowning in the St. Mary's river, is still missing. Police at work on the case, however, have learned that he used the telephone after his unceremonious departure.

Briggs, who came here from Huntington Friday, had been under the care of a physician, and during his stay in the city was attended constantly by a trained nurse. It was said that he suffered from heart disease. The nurse went into his room at the hotel yesterday and after finding the poem, threatening suicide, notified the authorities. Later, however, Briggs called her over the telephone, and when asked to return to the hotel, declared that he was unable to do so. He told the nurse, Mrs. Brannaman, to send his clothing to the home of a sister, Miss Briggs, at 820 Madison street, Bay City, Mich.

Briggs has been recently engaged in an effort to promote a building enterprise at Huntington.

A YOUNG SINGER BECOMES A RICH MAN

A young singer suffering from indigestion consulted the greatest European doctors and was told by a French specialist of a vegetable which had wonderful digestive properties. The singer made up a sauce in which he put much of this vegetable, which not only aided the digestion, but also took the place of any other sauce for table and kitchen use, and was delicious. This was known to the great cooks of Europe and it was pronounced by them to be a wonderful sauce for seasoning in the kitchen and also when used on hot and cold meats, fish, salads or soups. A company was immediately formed to manufacture the sauce, which was called "Waw-Waw" (an obsolete South American word for vegetable), and so great was the immediate success that it has been supplied to all the principal homes in England, Russia, and is to be found in all parts of the world. Letters have been received from well-known people stating how Waw-Waw has aided their digestion. It gives a flavor to food that is unexcelled. Waw-Waw contains no water, coloring matter or preservatives and is guaranteed absolutely pure. A 25-cent bottle from your grocer will suffice to show how much more you will enjoy your food by adding Waw-Waw in the soups, cooking and with cold or hot meats, fish and salads, and at the same time see how very easily you digest your food.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD STRUCK BY TRAIN

Cademan Boy Strays from Home and is Fatally Hurt at Gary.

ED STEWART HAS LEGS CRUSHED

Slipped Off Cinder Pile and Limbs Went Under a Moving Train.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cademan, of Gary, was struck on the Jackson street crossing in Gary, Ind., at 6:48 o'clock last evening by the engine pulling westbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 39 and so badly injured that he may die. The little fellow had a moment before slipped away from his home and was in the act of running across the tracks as the train was approaching when the accident happened. He was tossed aside and so badly injured that Dr. P. M. Hoerner, who attended him, says he cannot recover. The little patient is in the hospital at Gary, where every attention is being given him. Another accident on the Pennsylvania yesterday of a similar character occurred at Arcola, where a six-year-old boy named James Arnold was killed by the eastbound Pennsylvania Manhattan Limited No. 39, which struck the child at Gary last night, was in charge of Conductor Fink and Engineer H. Strasser and Fireman C. S. Connelly were in the cab.

BOWSER WORKS CLOSED.

Will Make Improvements During the Shut Down.

The two big boilers installed in the power plant at the factory of S. F. Bowser & Company are now being connected up and made ready for operation. To do this work and make some other changes at the factory, a shut down for a week has been taken and the employes will spend the time at the lakes or in other pleasure trips. Operations will be resumed Monday.

SLIPPED UNDER TRAIN.

Edward Stewart Has Leg Crushed on Elevated Tracks.

While walking on a pile of cinders at the side of a moving train on the elevated tracks of the Wabash last night, Edward Stewart slipped and his legs went under the cars. The left limb was caught by the wheels and badly crushed and his right leg was cut and bruised less seriously. John Morris, an employe of the road, was among the witnesses to the accident and he gave "first aid" to the unfortunate man by making a tourniquet with a piece of rope above the crushed foot and probably saved his life, for the wound was bleeding badly. After some delay the Heston & Ryan ambulance was called and Stewart was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. L. Canada and Dr. A. H. Macbeth. An effort is being made to save the right limb, but it may have to be amputated. Stewart says he is twenty-seven years old and that he formerly resided in Toledo. For three years, however, he has been wandering around and has no home now. He exhibited a great deal of fortitude before reaching the hospital, talking to the men who came to his assistance and thanking them for the little kindnesses shown. The train was backing up at the time of the accident and was not moving rapidly. It was in charge of Conductor John Ladig and Engineer Frank J. Lynch.

COMING CHANGE ON WABASH.

Employes Meet to Discuss Opening of Decatur Shops.

The Wabash will soon move nine or ten of the largest and best machines in the shops in this city to the new Decatur shops and this will necessitate a reduction of the force here. It is taken for granted that the company will ask the operators of the machines to be transferred to the Decatur shops to move there and operate them and this matter was the occasion of a special meeting of the Allied Crafts of the Wabash at Schroeder's hall last night. It was a peaceful gathering and had no great significance, for the reduction in the force at the local shop will not be very great, it is thought. The machines to be moved include turret lathes, wheel lathes, big planers and shapers and each has been numbered. Just how soon they will be moved is not known.

'LIGHTS TO CLOSE.

Big Shop Will Give Employes Two Days' Rest.

Bulletins announcing the closing of the Fort Wayne Electric works tonight for the holiday were posted in the respective places this morning. They also announce that operations at the plant will not be resumed until Monday morning. As a result of this announcement, hundreds of the employes will leave the city tonight and tomorrow morning to spend the week-end at the lakes or with friends in other cities.

SHORTAGE OF LABORERS.

Situation Remains Embarrassing to the Employers.

Fort Wayne is still several hundred men short of the number that could be handled at the shops, warehouses, on the railroads and on street and building improvements, but there has been a slight improvement over the conditions that prevailed several weeks ago. "We can use twenty-five laborers in the warehouse," said Agent E. H. Kirkland, of the Pennsylvania. The Bass works also need a number of laborers.

PENNSYLVANIA PAY DAY.

Car Arrives Here Saturday About 11 O'Clock.

The Pennsylvania paymaster will be in Fort Wayne over Sunday this trip. He will arrive here about noon Saturday and pay the employes in the machine shop in the afternoon. Other departments will not be paid until Monday. This arrangement will interfere somewhat with some pleasure trips, as fifty or sixty of the employes had arranged to spend the week end at the lakes.

JURY COULDN'T AGREE.

The jury in a case wherein Fred N. Gilpin, a conductor of a Pennsylvania freight train, was the defendant on a charge of holding a crossing in Plymouth too long, disagreed and the case will have to be given a new trial. Dr. O. V. Shuman filed the affidavit against Conductor Gilpin and the point on which the jury hung was the unavoidable circumstances which caused the holding of the crossing.

WILL CLOSE FOR REPAIRS.

Tonight, at the close of working hours, the Fort Wayne Rolling Mills will shut down for two weeks. Heavy repairs to the machinery are needed and during the suspension of work the plant will be given a general overhauling. The suspension of operations is welcomed by the employes who suffer severely at times from the heat.

STEVEDORE HAS LEG BROKEN.

R. H. Backs is at St. Joseph hospital with a fractured leg. The injury was received yesterday when a casting fell upon the limb while he was at work as a freight handler at the Pennsylvania freight house. He is twenty-six years old, married, and has worked at the freight house about five months.

TWO GASHES IN FOREHEAD.

Henry Seitz, a rivet heater in the Wabash boiler shop, received two painful cuts in his forehead at 8 o'clock this morning. He was wielding a sledge hammer, when it came off the handle and dropped upon his head. Dr. Kaadt attended him.

THROWN OFF MOTORCCYCLE.

Jerome Wersbein, clerk in the Bass boiler shop, was slightly injured and E. M. Geller, draftsman in the same works, was painfully hurt when the motorcycle they were riding last night was upset when it struck the car tracks on Wallace, near Hanna street. Mr. Werstein had his right arm skinned below the elbow and Mr. Geller had both hands cut, bruised and sprained. The latter was unable to report for work this morning. The motorcycle, which belongs to Mr. Werstein, was badly damaged.

Michael Krock, assistant foreman of laborers in the Pennsylvania supplies department, will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. Theodore Chandler, of Cleveland, on the Fourth.

Frank Cheveron, city patrolman, has been transferred from the night to the day trick and assigned to the south depot beat in place of Henry Harkenrider, pensioned and now in Colorado.

The semi-annual inventory of the Wabash at Fort Wayne was completed at 9 o'clock this morning and the men from St. Louis who were engaged in it went to Toledo today to perform a similar task.

Dispatcher J. F. Hagenmeister, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana, is taking his annual vacation. William Cartwright, a telegraph operator in the same office, is also on a vacation. He has gone to Mackinac and Detroit.

A freight wreck at Montpelier, Ohio, early yesterday morning tied up the Wabash at that point two or three hours. No. 9, westbound passenger train, was back of the wreck and was delayed. No one was injured.

Mrs. Nora Turner, the trained nurse who has charge of the dispensary and first aid to the injured department at the Fort Wayne Electric works, will go to Marion, Ind., tonight to be the guest of a friend until Sunday evening.

This morning Foreman T. C. Steger, of the tin and pipe department of the Wabash shops, received a letter announcing the safe arrival of his wife at Portland, Ore. Mrs. Steger will remain there several weeks and then go into California for a visit.

R. H. Mauk has recovered from an illness and resumed his duties at the Bowser offices. He is assistant salesman. George H. Bacon, of the sales department, has also resumed work. He was spending a vacation in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Stephan will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Greer at Wawasee during the week end. Mr. Greer has one of the most comfortable cottages, both in location and appointment, on the shores of that beautiful lake. Mr. Stephan and Mr. Greer are clerks in the Pennsylvania offices.

Tomorrow morning Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Slater will go to Chicago and remain until Monday, the guests of Joseph Davidson Slater, their grandson. The little host is six weeks old and is the son of Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Slater. This is the first grandson to Mr. and Mrs. Slater and this will be the first time they have met him.

REV. LOUIS REHL KILLED.

Former Fort Wayne Pastor Falls From Tree at Napoleon, Ohio.

Ossian, Ind., July 3.—The people of this place were shocked yesterday afternoon by the news that Rev. Louis Rehl, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, had sustained fatal injuries by a fall from a cherry tree at the home of his father, John Rehl, in Napoleon, O. The minister had climbed high into a cherry tree, when a limb broke under his weight and he was pitched to the ground, a distance of twenty feet. He alighted upon his head on a cement walk and suffered a fracture of the skull. A physician was called at once, but Rev. Rehl was injured beyond human aid and death ensued in about two hours after the accident. Rev. Rehl, with his wife and seven-year-old daughter, went to Napoleon Monday for a short visit with his parents. He was born near Napoleon, received his early education in the schools there, studied for the ministry and was admitted to membership in the North Indiana Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Seven years ago he was pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church in Fort Wayne, going from there to Lynn, thence to Monroeville and came lastly to Ossian. The funeral will doubtless be held at Napoleon.

Our store will be open this evening and closed all day Friday, the 4th.

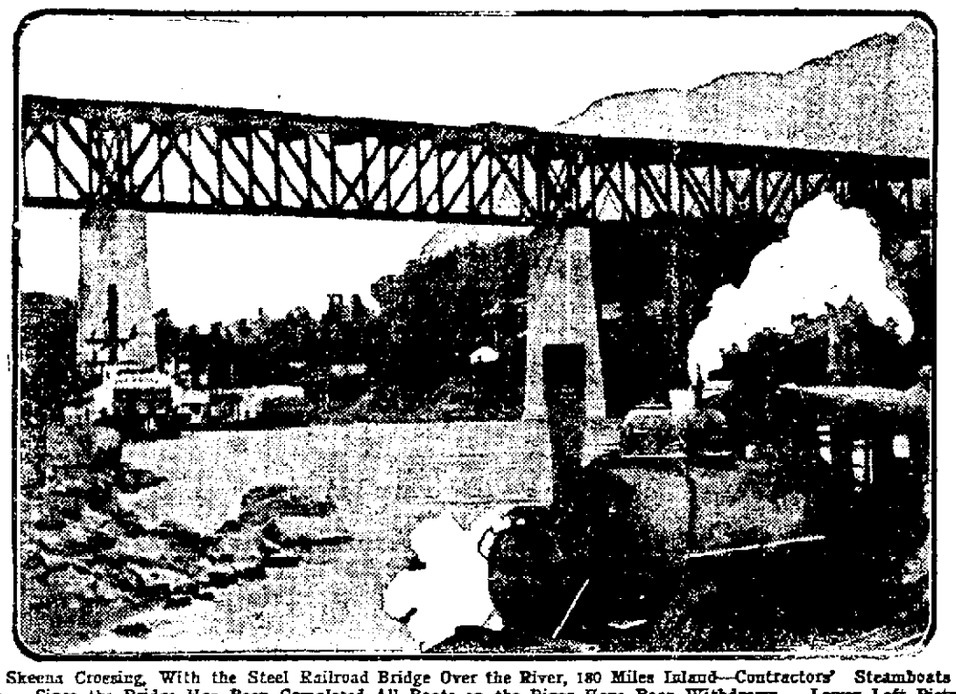
BRAND NEW RAILROAD STATIONS ALL READY TO HAVE WINDOWS UNBOARDED WHEN THROUGH TRAINS COME.



Skeena Crossing, With the Steel Railroad Bridge Over the River, 180 Miles Inland—Contractors' Steamboats Below. Since the Bridge Has Been Completed All Boats on the River Have Been Withdrawn. Lower Left Picture Is a Contractor's "Mule," the type of Baby Locomotive That Paves the Way for the Big Ones.

(By Harry Ashton.)

Prince Rupert, B. C., July 3.—Let's take a small part of America's most northern transcontinental line and see what railroad building in the wilderness means today.

From Prince Rupert eastward up-to-date trains are already running 200 miles into the interior and the Grand Trunk Pacific's tracklayers are putting down steel behind the grading gangs headed toward Fort George. The present train service stops at the most northern point of the entire route, Hazleton, a port on the old trail to Dawson. Here the contractors have their base of supplies for the onslaught into the hinterland.

This is the head of former navigation on the Skeena, and at the entrance of extensive plateau lands through which the line follows the Bulkeley river, then down the Endake river past Fraser lake and down the Fraser river to Fort George, and up a fork of the Fraser to Yellowhead pass, where Grand Trunk Pacific trains are already running from Winnipeg. Armies of "bohunks" are toiling away from both ends at the inglorious but necessary task of making grade and they will meet somewhere near Fort George, which is now accessible only by boats up to Fraser river from Vancouver. In time the Grand Trunk Pacific will have a branch line running down along this river to Vancouver. The same contractors are building it under the name of the Pacific Coast Eastern.

Even this fractional stretch of the big line's 3,500 miles from the Atlantic to the Pacific is too much to speak of in detail. The 200 miles finished from Prince Rupert to Hazleton is enough to keep the stranger busy rubbernecking. The trains use the north bank of the Skeena river at the base of mile-high mountains practically all the way.

One would have to be excessively patriotic to say that the Hudson river scenery can hold a candle to it. Also, this stretch of road is decidedly interesting from an engineer's point of view, since every variety of natural difficulty that a railroad builder is doomed to encounter is found in this distance—mountains of granite, rivers, bogs, sands and "gumbo" clay. But all have been conquered and this road through the wilderness could be imagined in Ohio, with its double-ballasted track, its cement-lined tunnels and steel bridges. The superintendent has been at it three years and has come to the point where there is little left to do with the completed track but pull the weeds to keep it looking pretty.

Brightly painted stations are all along the line, the smaller ones boarded up and the larger ones steam heated and with up-to-date dining rooms, waiting for the traffic. For it won't be so very long before limited trains are going to come through from Winnipeg.

There's already traffic, though. I saw a train of three passenger cars for the interior leave Prince Rupert so crowded that people were standing up in the aisles. By the way, passenger coaches are scarce as yet, as they had to be brought up, like every bit of rolling stock at this end, from Vancouver on seagoing barges. Sometimes the trip would take weeks. This is also how the locomotives and the red box cars of civilization were brought into this temporarily isolated division of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Freight and passengers now get up the river in eight hours, where formerly it took five days by boat. As a consequence ther are now no boats. The Indians in the pretty villages were not cordial when the railroad began hewing its right of way out of the solid forest. Its surveyors were regarded as the advance agents of evil. Their attitude was reflected in that of the old chief of the Kitwanga, who at the approach of the first construction train, grabbed his gun and blanket and fled howling into the mountains. After searching two days his people lid him back. But he was never the same afterward. He passed his remaining days vowing the railroad was "bad medicine."

The construction man has gone ahead. The bears that chased him have gone ahead, too, or stepped aside a few rods into the wilderness. And where once bears and "bohunks" mixed it, capitalists and prospectors and the camp followers of fortune from all parts of the world roll on their way to the interior to investigate the least exploited of Canada's storehouse of almost untouched resources. And here and there through the windows of the diner they see some before-handed settler waving at them from his garden among the stumps of a clearing.

And all this within a couple of years. It seems that these again are the days of Aladdin!

SPRINGFIELD IS STILL ON EARTH

President Meyer Stops the Rumor That South Bend is to Get Franchise.

AND RE-ENTER LEAGUE

A letter from President Sol Meyer, of the Springfield baseball club of the Central league, addressed to U. G. Manning, secretary of the South Bend chamber of commerce, absolutely proves ridiculous the report current about the circuit that South Bend was about to take over the franchise of the Springfield club and again enter a club in the league.

The letter shown here today for the first time proves that the report is nothing more than gossip of unfounded nature. South Bend people were under the impression that the Springfield club was on hard lines and up against it financially. The following communication, however, does not give that impression:

"Mr. U. G. Manning, Secretary,
"South Bend Chamber of Commerce,
"South Bend, Ind.

"Dear Sir:

"I am in receipt of your letter of June 30th, in relation to the transfer of the Springfield, Ohio, baseball club to South Bend.

"There is absolutely no truth in the rumor.

"The Springfield club, for the first time in its history, is on a paying basis, and this is due, in our opinion, to the executive ability of our president, Mr. Louis Heilbroner. He is handling the affairs of the Central league organization in such a high class manner that I believe that the season of 1913 will be a prosperous one for all clubs in the organization.

"Respectfully,
"SOL MEYER, President,
"Springfield, Ohio, Baseball Club."

DON'T WEAR OLD APPEARING GLASSES

Why have glasses that are awkward to wear and that give an unnecessarily "old" appearance? Why "duck" and "peer" over your reading glasses to see objects at a distance? Why wear two pair of glasses, one for distance, the other for reading? Why wear conspicuous pasted wafers cemented to your distance lenses, when it is not necessary?

WEAR OUR TORITOR KRYPTOKS

Toritor Kryptoks have the appearance of single lenses but give perfect distance and close work service. There is no marked "old appearing" dividing line to distract the vision and collect, dirt, there is no paster to blur or fall off; instead you have solid lenses which you can wear at all times and for all purposes as naturally as you would use your eyes without glasses.

PLAN RULES FOR NEW CUP EVENTS

Two Additional Trophies Given in Golf at Fort Wayne Country Club.

COMMITTEE MEETS

At a meeting of the sports and pastimes committee of the Fort Wayne Country club, the members determined upon the conditions to govern the playing for the two events, made possible by the donation of two new golf cups. E. G. Trenkley donated a handsome bronze cup with the figure of a golfer outlined in silver, and this will be known as the "E. G. Trenkley Scratch Cup." Henry Beadell, another new member, donated a handsome silver cup to be known as the "Dub's Cup." This will be played for by those who have never registered a score better than 110. This, of course takes in the newer and inexperienced golfers.

Rules for the Play.

The qualifying round of the Trenkley Scratch Cup event will be played Saturday, July 12th; the first flight Wednesday, the 16th; second flight, Saturday, the 19th; third flight Wednesday, the 23d; the finals of 36 holes can be played by agreement between the contestants on either the 25th, 26th or 27th. This leeway is given for the reason that the Northern Indiana State Tennis tournament will close at the Country club on the 26th and it may be that the two contestants in the Scratch Cup event may either desire to witness the finals in the tennis tournament or take some part in the tournament.

The name, "Dub's Cup," indicates its character. This cup is to be played for by new players or those who have never registered a score better than 110. It will be a handicap event, 110 being considered bogey and the handicaps rated accordingly. The players who have not turned in at least three score cards before the qualifying day will have to play without a handicap.

The qualifying round on the Beadell Dub's Cup will be played on July 12th; the first flight July 19, second flight July 26th, third flight August 2nd and the finals August 9th.

A large entry is expected for both of these events, as the cups will become the permanent property of the winners, the only string attached to them being that they must be left at the club house for at least three years.

The fair greens and putting greens are in excellent condition, considering the exceedingly hot, dry spell which has been experienced lately.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, July 3.—Bullish cables today carried wheat up grade. There were unfavorable crop reports from France and Russia, and continued disquieting advices from the Balkans. September started at 90@90½c, a gain of ½@¾c to ¾@⅞c, and steadied at 90⅝c.

The close, however, was weak at 90⅝c to 90⅞c for September, a gain of ⅛c net.

Fairly free commission buying made corn firm. September, which opened ¾c to ⅞c up at 62¾c to 62⅞c, rose to 63@63½c.

The close, nevertheless, was weak at 62⅝c for September, the same as last night.

Although trade in oats was not large, the market went higher, following wheat and corn. September started ⅛@¼c to ¾@¾c dearer at 43⅜@43¾c but reacted to 43c.

Provisions strengthened with hogs. First sales varied from 2½c to 7½c higher, including September options as follows: Pork, $121.05; lard, $11.70; ribs, $11.97½.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, July 3.—There was a slight downward movement in the first dealings in stocks today. The copper shares were heaviest, but their losses were less than a point. Trading was light and the market showed no signs of reawakening speculative interest.

The outbreak of serious hostilities among the Balkan nations depressed the foreign market and traders here put out small lines of stock at every opportunity. Approach of the triple holiday restricted trading to nominal proportions, and while the drift was downward, selling was not large enough to effect values materially. Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Extreme lassitude prevailed all through the final hour, with the day's transaction falling to the lowest of the year.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

New York, June 3.—Prime mercantile paper, 6 per cent.; sterling exchange strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at 483.10 for 60-day bills and at 487 for demand; commercial bills, 482¾; bar silver, 58¼c; Mexican dollars, 48c; government bonds, weak; railroad bonds, irregular.

LOCAL FORECAST.

Fort Wayne Ind., July 3.—For Fort Wayne and vicinity Fair and continued warm tonight and Friday.

GENERAL FORECAST.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—For Indiana and Ohio: Generally fair tonight and Friday.

For Lower Michigan Showers late tonight or on Friday, except generally fair southeast portion; cooler tonight on west shore; cooler Friday north and west portions.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

Slightly cooler weather is reported from the eastern states this morning, giving some relief from the excessive temperatures which have prevailed over that section for the last two or three days. Throughout the central states minimum temperatures were not in excess of 90 degrees except in a few localities, but over the plains states warmer weather again prevails, with maximum temepratures yesterday from 94 to 98 degrees over much of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Good rains are reported from the northwest, from Minnesota westward to Montana and from the British northwest.

It is not probable that the showers from the northwest will overspread this section before Friday night, and fair and continued warm weather is probable for this section for tonight and Friday.

I will meet you at the Precious Blood Picnic tomorrow—Gold Seal 5c Cigar.

WILL ASK MONEY TO RAZE SHACKS

City to Proceed with Demolition Where Owners Ignore Order.

NEWS OF CITY HALL

The board of works will shortly ask the city council to make a suitable appropriation for funds with which the building inspector may proceed with the work of demolishing condemned buildings whose owners ignore the order to tear them down.

It is expected that some owners will disregard the notice to tear down the outlawed structures and that the city will have to go ahead and do the work. At the expiration of the notice and failure to comply with it, the chief of the fire department and the city civil engineer will make another inspection and if their findings confirm the original report that any structure comes within the ordinance's definition of a "dangerous building," they will so report to the city building inspector, whose duty it then becomes to proceed with the razing of the building, charging the cost of the work as a lien upon the real estate.

It doubtless will be the plan to advertise for bids to do the work of destruction and money will be needed to pay wrecking contractors. That there may be no delay when the city is confronted with any necessity that may arise to cause the razing of any building the appropriation is to be sought.

The city ordinance under which there have just been condemned twenty-three structures situated in the fire limits of Fort Wayne is based on section 24 of the Indiana acts defining the powers of city councils. This section of the acts has already been sustained by the supreme court of Indiana in several decisions.

Mayor Grice and other officials of the city say that the condemnation proceedings and orders to destroy are made in good faith and that there will be no abrogation of the action taken. If a second inspection as provided for confirms the original findings the only appeal will be to the courts.

After cleaning up the unpaved streets in Bloomingdale, Lakeside and Forest Park, Street Superintendent Bisel's weed-cutting gang went to work in another section of the city today. The superintendent says the clearing of the streets of weeds is having a salutary influence on property owners, who are now cutting weeds on their premises. It will take about two weeks to finish the city's program of weed-cutting in the streets.

Residents on Union street and vicinity have complained to the board of works of the delay in finishing the track elevation work on that street. The Brooks company, which has the contract, has withdrawn all its men from the job. The board of works explains this by saying that the College street work is being pushed with all possible speed to completion by the Brooks company. A month will be required to finish College streets, after which Union street will be taken hold of and completed. The board believes that College street ought to be completed first, because Broadway affords traffic relief to Union street people.

FORT WAYNE MAN GETS RELIEF IN TWO DAYS.

Mr. Aug. J. Baer, of 1436 East Lewis street, who is one of the youngest married men of the city, only called on the United Specialists for the first time Thursday, June 27. He is so well pleased with the treatment received at their hands that he writes the following:

"July 2, 1913.

"To the Public:

"I had been suffering from a chronic condition for five years which gradually began to affect my nervous system and was becoming much worse in itself. Last week I went to the United Specialists with my case, and while these physicians do not use the knife except when absolutely necessary, I was told that an operation was the only right method to cure my condition, and that the average doctor would insist on my going to the hospital for several weeks. Last Sunday I went to their offices and had the work done without hurting me or putting me to sleep. Went right home and was able to follow my work Tuesday morning. I have been sleeping splendidly since the work was done, and feel confident I will become a well man in every way.

"Respectfully,
"AUGUST J. BAER,
"1436 East Lewis St.,
"Fort Wayne, Ind."

While, as has been frequently stated in these columns, the United Specialists do not believe in the free use of the knife in chronic conditions, yet they never hesitate to tell any one if they think that surgery is the only method that will cure a patient, even though they gain the ill will of the patient by telling them so. It is a matter of fact that they do cure hundreds of so-called surgical cases by their United System of treatment. The fact that they have established a permanent institution in Fort Wayne should be a cause for great satisfaction to all sufferers from chronic diseases who have not been able to find relief by the ordinary methods of treatment.

These specialists have their Fort Wayne Institute at 124 East Washington street, half way between Calhoun and Clinton streets.

They treat all Chronic and Nervous diseases of men and women. They are making an exceptional offer until July 10th.

They will examine and treat anyone who calls before that time free of charge. The only charge will be for medicine used.—Adv.

Seek Health and Happiness in Overland Trip

on supplies, and then left by the Bluffton road on another lap of their overland trip from Detroit to Florida in search of health, happiness and recreation.

Mr. Lemmer is a business man in Detroit, and is a stockholder and director in a well known manufacturing concern. He has plenty of money, a nice home in Detroit, a beautiful wife and manly son. Not long ago the three of them planned this novel trip as a vacation, and by slow stages they are working their way to Jacksonville, Florida, where they will remain during the winter. It is hoped to complete the trip by December.

They are traveling in a large road wagon, fitted in excellent style and taste, fully screened, containing cots, a stove, a pantry, tables, an ice box and storage room for supplies. The wagon is drawn by two healthy mules who with the collie and canary bird seem to enjoy the trip as much as the Lemmer family.

Several days ago Mr. Lemmer overtook one William Studebaker, aged sixty-five years, who is walking from Washington, Pa., to Chicago. Mr. Studebaker instructed Mr. Lemmer to tell Fort Wayne that he will pull into the city within a short time. Mr. Studebaker takes as nourishment nothing but rye bread and cocoa and in spite of his years, seems to be enjoying his long tramp.
